USING A CUDGEL, WOODROW WILSON TOURS NEW JERSEY

President Returns to State to Fight for the Reforms He Pledged While He Was Governor.

POINTED REFERENCES MADE TO "OLD GANG"

The President Declares He Is Opposed to Anything or Anybody Supported by the Former Bosses of Jersey.

Newark, N. J., May 1.—President Wilson battled hard tonight in two speeches at Newark and Elizabeth to wrest New Jersey politics from what he termed a "resumption of control by Jim Nugent and the old political machine."

Great crowds, frequent interruptions of applause and demonstrations of approval greeted the president when he put on his "war paint," as he described it, and campaigned in earnest to have the power of drawing juries taken from the sheriffs and placed in the hands of non-partisan commissions. He also pleaded for the calling of a constitutional convention and pointed out that it was no longer regarded as a radical procedure to change constitutions in the United States.

His two speeches were filled with satirical characterization of what he called the "old gang in New Jersey," but he made it clear that his fight for apparently a local issue was made for the rank and file of the nation.

He's Used to War Paint.

"I am sorry," he said at Elizabeth, "that I should have to come back to speak words of criticism, but I must say that it is familiar to have the war paint on in New Jersey again. And it is not singular that we should always have to be fighting to get control of our own affairs.

"We want to redeem the jurisprudence of this state not only of the suspicion, but of the stain that men are not equally treated in the courts of law. The political machine, where it is misused in this state, as in every other state of the union, is where the machine controls the sheriff's office. The machine instinctively fights for the sheriff's office, the citadel of power and immunity from punishment. If you want to strike at the center and heart of corrupt politics let it that you put the control of grand juries into impartial and non-political hands.

"When it was suggested that I return to New Jersey to speak," said the president at Elizabeth, "I was asked if it was not imprudent for me to leave affairs which hourly need my attention in Washington. Would I come to my beloved state? It was like being asked would I go back and take a hand in the fight for the rank and file of the American people.

"I am not of a sanguinary or a belligerent nature, but I got on the train today with a light heart, for if you'll tell me that there is something afoot to cheat people in getting something for themselves, I am your man, enlisted for the battle.

Hisses for Jim Nugent.

"Before Mr. James Nugent, of Essex county, took charge of the legislature," said President Wilson. Here hissing began in the crowd and the president waited a moment and continued:

"I don't know for whom those hisses are, but I hand them over to Jim Nugent, to whom they belong—a sinister private agent openly conducting affairs on the floor of the legislature, who did not dare do it as long as somebody else would go home and point him out as a man not commissioned to speak for the people and as the man opposing the processes of law which he dare not submit to."

The crowd cheered and the president announced that he would be willing to submit the jury reform question to a referendum, as had been proposed by the Nugent faction, but he knew, he said, that it would not be a genuine referendum and that the machine would count the votes at the polls to suit themselves, since the processes of the election law were controlled in certain counties by sheriffs in league with the political machine. These counties he added, were the ones in need of the reform most.

"If made all my pulses beat," said

HUMAN SANDBAGS PUT INTO BREACH TO SAVE BIG LEVEE

Quick Work by Farmers and Heroism of Negroes Prevent Great Disaster Above New Orleans.

NEGROES RISK LIVES, BUT SAVE THE LEVEE

The Negroes Literally Threw Themselves Into Crevasse and Held Flood Until the Break Could Be Closed.

New Orleans, May 1.—Quick work by determined farmers and a small bunch of willing negroes who were thrown into an incipient crevasse in the absense of sandbags, today saved another disaster along the turbulent Mississippi river. The dozen negroes who lay in the gap of the Poydras levee, holding back the water until sandbags could be filled to take their places, risked their lives, but saved the day, when it appeared hopeless to even try to hold the fast crumbling embankment.

The Poydras levee, which is only thirteen miles south of New Orleans began to cave rapidly shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. When the caving was discovered the entire batture in front of the Poydras store, 100 feet wide and extending from the levee to the river bank 200 feet out, had caved in and a small gap in the levee had gone. The alarm was given and within twenty minutes a score of negroes were brought up by a planter who lives a few hundred yards south of the scene. The levee was caving rapidly and when this small force arrived water about two inches deep was pouring over the embankment.

Negroes as Sandbags.

It seemed too late to prevent the crash which would spread flood waters over a large area of Plaquemines and St. Bernard parishes, entailing damage to plantations totalling several hundred thousand dollars. Two thousand empty sandbags were being brought up from the farmhouse just below, but the flow of water across the top of the levee had to be stopped immediately or sandbags and all the labor within ten miles would be useless.

A desperate chance was taken when two 12-inch boards were put along the top of the broken levee and a dozen negroes accepted the task of holding it in place. These human sandbags might be taken with the very next slice of the levee, but they held on until a row of bags filled with dirt were put in place behind the broken gap. Other bags were hurriedly dropped in the gap and soon a hundred more negroes and white men were working like ants filling sacks and carrying the filled bags to the gap.

Caving Checked for Time.

Then, without warning, the stretch of the levee crown where the human sandbags lay a few moments before fell away to a depth of 28 feet. A second row of bags held the water back and within an hour two thousand of the dirt-filled sacks were in place and the caving was temporarily checked and, for the time, the levee was saved.

Laborers and supplies were rushed to the scene only special trains, by steamer and barge and on automobile trucks. At noon the construction of a horseshoe levee behind the endangered embankment, out in the public road, was started. Tonight a thousand men were working by the light of torches and bonfires and Engineer John Meyer, in charge of the work, expressed the belief that there would be no crevasse.

It seems almost impossible to hold all of the remaining levees in view of the three months' continuous strain to which they have been subjected by the high water, and with the crest of the flood still to be handled all the way from Red river south, but the engineers are working doggedly, with thousands of laborers and are hoping against hope.

Flood Spreads Destruction.

Vidalia, La., May 1.—The crevasse in the main line of the Mississippi river levee, near Gibson's Landing, had widened this morning to a half mile, emptying an immense volume of the flood water over the rich farming lands of Concordia and adjoining parishes.

The engineers in an effort to prevent further crumbling of the broken ends of the gap placed a huge tarpaulin over the north end of the torn line this morning and will attempt the greater task of tying the lower end during the day.

The crevasse water is steadily extending in every direction, destroying hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of growing crops and inundating many towns and villages. It is expected to reach Vidalia tomorrow. Little alarm is felt here, as the flood is not expected to reach a dangerous stage here.

More than 100,000 rations have been distributed in the flooded territory by Lieutenant Holliday, with headquarters at Natchez, during the last few days.

LITHONIA MAN MISSING; FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED

Lithonia, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Tommie Garner, a young man age 30, years, who was last seen on the night of April 26. He left Lithonia late Saturday night for his home, which was about three miles east of Lithonia, and was known to have considerable money on his person. His aged parents are very much alarmed about him, and there is strong belief here that he has been foully dealt with.

When last seen he wore a blue serge suit, dark colored shirt, light hat and gun metal shoes. He was about 5 feet tall. His front teeth are worn almost to the gums. He is not very talkative. His parents and friends will appreciate any information concerning him.

BANKING COMPANY IN FEDERAL COURT

Receiver Asked for Guarantee Trust and Banking Company by Creditors Who Claim It Is Insolvent.

Application was filed in the United States court yesterday for bankruptcy against the Guarantee Trust and Banking company, of Atlanta. The applicants are J. H. Kirby, T. S. Rogers and J. H. Russell, who claim that the company has been committing the act of bankruptcy by paying money to preferred creditors while insolvent.

It is alleged in the petition that the company has been insolvent for some time and that it should be declared a bankrupt.

The Guarantee Trust and Banking company has been doing business for about seven years at 15 East Alabama street. Samuel E. Smith is president, and H. S. Miles, secretary.

Receiver Has Been Asked For.

Litigation against the company has been pending about three weeks in the superior court, a petition having been filed asking for the appointment of a receiver. Both stockholders and bondholders have joined in the proceedings. The petition will be heard Monday morning of next week.

The company claims that it has assets amounting to over a million dollars and that it is perfectly solvent.

When asked if he wished to make any statement, President Smith said last night that he would have to refer the reporter to the company's attorney, Henry C. Peeples.

Mr. Peeples said:

The Company's Contention.

"The bankruptcy proceedings are only a part of the same litigation which is pending in the state courts. The company emphatically denies the allegations made. It is not insolvent and has a right to pay preferred creditors if it sees fit to do so."

Those who are moving against the company, it is understood, promise some very sensational developments, while the company, through its attorney, promise that it will be shown to be in good financial condition.

The attorneys representing the applicants in the bankruptcy proceedings are: Smith & Hastings, Charles T. & Linton Hopkins, Hughes & Foster, and Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman.

The reception committee for the occasion will consist of all the members who joined the lodge under the administration of Dr. W. L. Champion, who was master of the lodge during the year 1906.

All master Masons in good standing are cordially invited.

MAN AND WIFE HELD FOR KILLING PLANTER

Chester, S. C., May 1.—Dave Davis and his wife, Anna Davis, colored, were arrested today near Cornwell, Chester county, on the charge of murdering John Lewis, a wealthy planter and recluse, last Thursday night. The negroes had packed their grips and were preparing to leave the county when arrested. They were lodged in the county jail and special precautions were taken to avoid danger of an attack by a mob, as feeling is intense.

The authorities say they have strong evidence against the negroes.

MISS LATHROP PROBES OLLIE TAYLOR'S CASE

Federal Official Puts a Quietus on Stories About Boy's Sentence.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, D. C., May 1.—(Special.)—A quietus has been put upon the sensational stories about Ollie Taylor, who has figured in the northern press as the victim of a cruel long-term sentence to prison for stealing a five-cent bottle of soda water.

Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, of the department of labor, went to Atlanta personally to investigate the case, and in a formal statement issued today on her return states that she found Ollie Taylor was not sent to prison, but to a reformatory to be kept out of mischief during his minority.

She quotes the juvenile court law of Georgia and describes briefly the Fulton county industrial farm and the record of Taylor, as given by the probation officer.

Her letter concludes:

"While, according to the words of the statute, the child was sentenced, the actual fact seems to be that he was committed to the guardianship of the school during minority, as children are committed in the juvenile courts of other states to quasi-public industrial schools or the state schools for a period not longer than minority, to be placed out or discharged at the discretion of the superintendent or trustees of the schools.

"While in Atlanta, I visited this school and met the superintendent, who has been a professional teacher all his life. He seems to have the boys' interests sincerely at heart, and inquiry showed that he has the general confidence of the community.

"I saw the boys as they were marching out of the dining room on Sunday, dressed in their gray Sunday uniforms. The atmosphere of the place was that of a school, some of the boys I spoke with, among them the child in question. He was a bright, cheerful-looking lad of about 13. All the information I gained personally in Atlanta from my own observation and from people with whom I spoke about the matter, convinced me that the boy is receiving proper care."

ORDERED FROM SALOON, WOMAN SHOOTS TO KILL

Chicago, May 1.—Clarence Murphy, 22 years old, son of a Gary, Ind., saloon keeper, was shot dead today in his father's place of business when he attempted to eject Mrs. Grace Smith, 35 years of age. She fled to Chicago, where later she was arrested.

Arthur Greyson, 37 years old, was with the woman when she was taken into custody. They were taken back to Gary.

After a quarrel between Mrs. Smith and Henry Murphy, proprietor of the saloon, Clarence Murphy ordered Mrs. Smith out. When he stepped toward her to enforce the command, she drew a revolver and fired five shots.

"I meant to kill old man Murphy and not his son," Mrs. Smith told the police.

FOR THEFT OF $60,000 RANNEY IS ARRESTED

Los Angeles, Cal., May 1.—Accused of embezzling more than $80,000 during a period covering six years, W. J. Ranney, chief clerk in the office of the auditor of the Santa Fe railroad here, was arrested tonight and placed in jail.

The specific cache on which Ranney was arrested was the alleged theft of $670, but Acting General Manager Hibbard was authority for the statement that the total amount of the shortage would approximate the larger sum. Fraudulent vouchers are said to have been used to conceal the shortage.

FATHER SCHADEWELL JUST ESCAPES DEATH AT HOME OF BISHOP

Savannah, Ga., May 1.—Yesterday afternoon at the residence of Rev. B. J. Kelley, bishop of Savannah, Rev. Father F. X. Schadewell, chancellor of the Savannah diocese, had a very narrow escape from death at the hands of an alleged lunatic, Jerry M. Walsh, a man who had frequently called at the home for spiritual advice, was the one who attacked the priest. He struck him over the head with a heavy cane, felling him to the ground for a moment. Father Schadewell and Father Mitchell, the priest of the cathedral, held the man until a mounted officer arrived and carried him to the barracks.

This morning the city recorder held Walsh for a trial as to his sanity. Walsh explained to the officers that he went to the house because he "saw a man go in who had no business there." Father Schadewell was able to appear against his assailant this morning.

The attack and arrest created the greatest excitement in the vicinity of the bishop's residence, which is Catholic headquarters for Georgia.

"FOLKS, I CAN'T TELL," SAID JULIA ANDERSON

North Carolina Woman Unable to Identify as Son Child Claimed by Dunbars.

Opelousas, La., May 1.—Julia Anderson, brought here from her home in North Carolina to assist in the identification of the boy who has been declared by Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunbar to be their son, was today unable to note the resemblance between the little fellow in the Dunbar home and Bruce Anderson, her boy. Several children were brought before her. She searched the face of each one, but was unable to find the features of Bruce Anderson. It was a trying ordeal.

"Folks, I can't tell," she said and then she collapsed.

Alonzo, brother of Robert Dunbar, she said, "looked a little like Bruce," but when the boy who was taken from W. C. Walters, itinerant tinker; was brought to her he would not answer to the name "Bruce," although that is the name he bore while with Walters. Mrs. Dunbar later brought "Bobbie," as he is now known to the North Carolina woman. She took the child in her arms, only to say again, "Folks, I can't tell. If he is my boy he's been away so long he doesn't know me."

Grand Jury May Take Up Phagan Investigation Following Conference Between Dorsey, Beavers and Lanford.

MULLINAX AND GANTT ARE GIVEN FREEDOM

Coroner's Jury. Will Resume Hearing on Monday, Following the Subpoenaing of 200 Witnesses.

Thomas B. Felder, member of the firm of Felder, Anderson, Dillon & Whitman, has been engaged to assist the solicitor general in the prosecution of the murderer of Mary Phagan. He was retained yesterday by a committee of citizens from the Bellwood community, in which the dead girl lived. The counsel fund has been subscribed by residents.

Mr. Felder said last night to a reporter for The Constitution that within a day or so he would be abundantly supplied with convincing evidence. He already has started private investigation, he said, but would not divulge its form. He would not discuss the rumor that the Burns detective agency had been employed.

A special session of the Fulton grand jury is expected to be called to take action in the Mary Phagan mystery.

Evidence of this probability was first noted yesterday afternoon, when Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey summoned Police Chief Beavers and Detective Chief Lanford to his office in the Thrower building.

Following a short conference, in which the solicitor informed both chiefs that he was willing and ready to co-operate with them, they returned to headquarters. They will consult with Mr. Dorsey again shortly. It will then be determined whether or not the grand jury will take a hand in the case.

The process of eliminating suspects is now being put into operation by the police. J. M. Gantt and Arthur Mullinax, who were arrested immediately after the negro watchman had been taken into custody, were released late Thursday afternoon.

Thirty minutes before they were given freedom, however, Coroner Donehoo issued warrants remanding to the Tower Leo Frank, the factory superintendent, and Newt Lee, the night watchman. They are held under suspicion, and will be detained until further investigation by the coroner's jury.

The inquest, which was postponed until 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, was again adjourned. It will be resumed next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was at the request of Chiefs Beavers and Lanford that this action was taken.

More Than 200 Subpoenaed.

The largest number of witnesses ever summoned before an inquest in Georgia was subpoenaed by Coroner Donehoo Thursday morning, when he ordered every employee of the National Pencil factory to give testimony at the hearing. More than 200 men, women and girls came to police headquarters at 4 o'clock. They were assembled as a body, after which all were excused until the Monday session.

Although it was thought at first that they had disclosed a clue which would give them a new lead upon which to turn their investigation, the detectives say they attach but little significance to a letter addressed to "Mary Phagan," which was brought to them yesterday morning by a street car conductor.

The letter was discovered a day or so ago on an English avenue trolley car, the one on which she rode to town shortly before noon of the day on which she disappeared. It was found under the seat on which she sat. The sleuths would not divulge its contents. It was from a friend, was all the information they would give.

Police headquarters was not surprised when the coroner ordered Frank and the negro to jail. A large crowd had thronged the place since dawn. It had grown to tremendous proportions when the detaining warrants were issued. They were typewritten in Chief Beavers' office, and are as follows, excepting the change of name for each individual writ.

"To the Jailer of Fulton County, Greeting:

"You are hereby required to take into custody the person of (L. M. Frank, Newt Lee), suspected of the murder of Mary Phagan, and to retain .he said (L. M. Frank, Newt Lee), in your custody pending the further investigation of the death of the said Mary Phagan."

Homes To Be Thrown Open To Presbyterian Delegates

Following the enthusiastic meeting of a number of Atlanta's representative women, who were called together Wednesday and asked to co-operate with the entertainment committee of the forthcoming Presbyterian convention, the various committees appointed were busy yesterday adding to the list of homes for the several hundred delegates still unprovided for.

All the hotels and the boarding houses in the city have been reserved to their utmost capacity. All the Presbyterian homes have been canvassed, and are filled, and an appeal has been made to Atlanta's citizenship at large to assist in the work of providing homes. It is not merely a matter of entertaining delegates to a denominational conference, but it is a test of Atlanta's civic pride and her real hospitality.

The city has never before had such big demand—a demand when the homes of the city at large have to be asked for.

The committees working yesterday did admirable work, and the list of new hostesses will be published in full.

In the meantime those who have not as yet been reached by the various committees, and who desire to join in the hospitality should be called upon to furnish, may communicate with Mr. Jerre Moore, 513 Empire building, telephone Main 3736, or with the chairman of the several committees, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Mrs. George McCarty, Mrs. C. B. Wilmer or any of the ladies of the general committee on entertainment, of which Mrs. J. W. Grant is chairman.

held by the coroner of said county.

"Herein fail not.

"(signed) PAUL DONEHOO,

"Coroner.

"Given under my hand and official signature, this the first day of May, 1913."

Dorsey Explains Action.

My only reason for calling Chief Beavers and Chief of Detectives Lanford into conference this morning was to ascertain what progress they had made in the Phagan case, and to see if I could assist them in any way. The idea that I brought them to my office to reprimand them for the lack of progress in the matter is absurd. I have no authority to take such an action."

The foregoing statement was made by Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, immediately after a conference held in his private office behind locked doors, between him and the authorities, yesterday.

Although Mr. Dorsey did not confirm a rumor to the effect that the conference will result in the state taking the case in its own hands, should not immediate and telling results be shown by the police department in the case, the report was given added credence because of the renewed activity that has been shown in the investigation.

A short while after the conference the sixth arrest in the case was made. James Connolly, a negro sweeper, employed at the factory, was taken into custody. His arrest came on the direct result of detectives learning that he had been washing clothes at the factory.

The sweeper's explanation of this was satisfactory; however, little importance is attached to the affair. He declared that he had been summoned to appear at the inquest, and that he had been obliged to wash the shirt, as it was soiled and he had no clean one to wear.

Officials Called in Conference.

Relative to the conference with Solicitor Dorsey, Chief Beavers would have nothing to say last night. It has been his inexorable attitude throughout the entire investigation to say nothing. He will give no information whatever, and it is impossible to ascertain through him what progress the police have made.

Chief Lanford, however, told a reporter for "the Constitution that he and the police chief had been called to the solicitor general's office to give Dorsey their views of the situation so that he could gain an insight into the progress that had thus far been made.

"He also stated his opinion," the detective chief said, "that the newspapers were publishing too much of the sensational case, and that, by some means or other, they were daily gaining information that was injurious to the work of the investigation.

"He seemed pleased with our progress. He denied the circulated report that he had denounced our methods and was disappointed in the lack of evidence we had adduced. We were assured of the support and co-operation of his office and of the grand jury. A special session, he said, would be called if necessary."

The chief also told that he and Chief Beavers would soon hold another conference with the solicitor, and that it would then be determined whether or not the grand jury should take action in the investigation.

It requires hardly three minutes for the two prisoners to be transferred from police headquarters to the Tower.

Transferred in Autos.

There they were put in automobiles, Beavers in charge of one and Black and Rosser in charge of the other. The run was made to the Tower in less than three seconds.

Frank, who was first to arrive, darted through the jail door. The negro walked across the sidewalk, stopping before the barred doorway and asking for the newspaper camera squad.

Frank and the watchman signed the commitment papers and were rushed into the jail proper.

They had hardly been assigned to their new prison, when Gantt and Mullinax were released from headquarters. All day, the mother and sister of the latter haunted the station. There was a cry of joy when she emerged from his cell. The mother threw her arms about his neck and wept hysterically.

Both Gantt and Mullinax left immediately for home. They will return to their respective homes.

Coroner Donehoo said late in the afternoon that his plan for summoning the employees of the pencil factory was to obtain possible evidence having direct bearing on the murder. It was not to ascertain conditions in the factory, as was rumored, or to procure testimony of Frank's character. It was to learn something definite of Mary Phagan as a working girl at the plant where she had been employed for more than a year.

The concern was shut down at 3 o'clock. It will be closed again next Monday. In their finest frocks and hats the girls of the plant came to headquarters. The immense crowd of employees flooded the building. There were not seats enough to provide for them in the court room, and they overflowed to the street. There, they mingled with the crowd of curious that had flocked to the scene.

Frank Given High Praise.

In regard to the arrest of Leo Frank in connection with the investigation of the Phagan murder, Milton Klein has furnished The Constitution with the following statement:

"Leo Frank, the superintendent and general manager of one of Atlanta's largest and most promising industries, spends two hours in the office on a holiday after generously relieving the watchman during these hours. His habits are regular and industrious, and his life, while in Atlanta, is perfectly blameless in every respect. The terrible crime committed in his plant calls forth the closest scrutiny of Mr. Frank's relations with his 200 workmen and women. Only the highest words of praise and confidence in his character are heard on all sides.

"I have worked with Mr. Frank for years in various charitable organizations and have ever found him the most polished of gentlemen, with the kindest of heart and the broadest of sympathy. To such an extent it is recognized among his fellow lodge men that we have honored him with the office of president, which he has filled and is filling with credit.

"After the magnificent work he has done in his adopted home, shall we, without consideration, emphasize every bit of gossip which unjustly and groundlessly connects him with this awful tragedy? No one seeks more fervently to discover the real perpetrator of this atrocious crime than Mr. Frank."

Deputy Asks for Calm.

Deputy sheriff Plennie Miner makes the following plea for calm consideration of the Phagan case:

"While a crime of a most revolting nature has been committed in our midst, and our people are naturally excited and incensed over the deplorable affair, there are things that we need to consider coolly and carefully. Every possible effort is being put forth by the officers and the public generally to apprehend the guilty party or parties. Nothing is being left undone that can be done in securing that would lead to a solution of the mysterious tragedy.

"But this is not a time for us to become too excited or too hasty in our efforts to bring about the criminal. Above all things, and especially at this time it is absolutely necessary for us to keep perfectly cool, to work carefully and quietly, running down every possible clew with caution.

"I respectfully ask that the public be patient, refraining from criticism of the unceasing efforts on the part of the officers or private individuals who are working so generously and faithfully on the case. And I would also have it known, during my several years of experience as an officer and in criminal cases, undue haste in matters of this kind, brought on by excitement and enthusiasm to produce a miscarriage of justice. But I have never known a cool and systematic investigation of a tragedy, backed up by a brave public sentiment demanding the apprehension of the real perpetrator of a crime like this, to fail of attaining the desired end."

Experience Gained While In The Drug Business

I have been troubled more or less in the last five years with kidney trouble and from the experience I gained while in the drug business and from different cases where I have used Swamp-Root with perfect satisfaction to those who purchased it, and as I never had a single complaint regarding the medicine while I was in business, I was in a position to know that it was a great preparation and it did not fail me when I used it myself. It has certainly afforded me great relief at all times that my kidneys have troubled me and I would not be without it. I always recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to my friends as I believe it to be a medicine of great curative value in the diseases for which you recommend it.

Sincerely,

D. A. KOONCE,

LOUISIANA BOLTS ON SUGAR TARIFF

Republicans Applaud, But the Schedule Is Sustained. Fight on "Market Basket" Reductions Proves Vain.

Washington, May 1.—All efforts of the opposition to disturb the "market basket" reductions in the democratic tariff bill failed in the house today, despite the fact that republican orators sounded warnings of ruined industries, enforced idleness and empty cupboards to follow the enactment of the Underwood bill.

Still championing the bill as the greatest that ever has been written for the benefit of the people of the country, the democrats were deaf to the pleas of representatives of the beet and cane sugar constituencies against free sugar in three years; unmoved by the charge that they legislated into the hands of the beef trust by placing duties on live stock while free listing their products; determined to rush the passage of the bill at the earliest possible moment.

Louisiana Democrats Bolt.

The first break from the solid front of the majority came, however, when Louisiana democrats led by Representative Broussard, appealed to republican leader Mann for a share of time in which to speak against the sugar schedule, and when Representative Kinkead, a New Jersey democrat, uttered a prediction that the senate would strike out the ways and means committee's ten per cent. rates on live stock.

When Representative Sloan, of Nebraska, introduced an amendment to increase the rate on cattle from ten to fifteen per cent., after a 65 per cent. amendment by Fordney, of Michigan, had been rejected, Mr. Kinkead declared that he believed that the ways and means committee had kept the platform pledge to the people when they had reduced live stock rates to ten per cent., but he felt that theocommittee should have placed live stock on the free list along with meats.

"I believe and hope," said Mr. Kinkead, "that when it comes back to us from the senate the duty will be cut off and that every democrat on this floor will support it."

This aroused prolonged applause from the republicans, who earlier were stirred to enthusiastic cheers when Mr. Broussard declared that the sugar rates proposed by his party would redound only to the benefit of the sugar trust.

The test vote on sugar came on an amendment offered by Minority Leader Mann to strike out the provision placing sugar on the free list in three years. It was lost 88 to 136.

Hardwick on Cane Growers.

Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, defended the rates for the majority, describing America's sugar industry as of the "hot house" variety, unable to stand on its own feet and exacting excessive taxes from the people to support it.

Averring that under the circumstances the cane sugar industry of Louisiana could not possibly survive a dozen years, Mr. Hardwick urged the Louisiana people to abandon sugar growing and plant other crops on their rich soil. He asserted that if the Louisiana planters would plant cotton instead of sugar they would have to get step ladders to harvest the crop. Woody stalks would grow so high in Louisiana the cost of producing sugar, he argued, was 3 3-4 cents a pound, nearly double the cost of production in Cuba, Porto Rico and Hawaii. While the Philippines, he asserted, when modern machinery is procured and better transportation afforded, can produce all the sugar for the whole country at lower prices than it is furnished today. The planters of Louisiana, he said, had invested in sugar only $119,000,000 and would have "benefited by the people" to pay a tax of $140,000,000 a year to support the industry." "It is not fair," said Mr. Hardwick, "it is unrighteous; it is undemocratic."

Representative Mann opposed the rates, and Representative Underwood closed the debate.

"No man is so ignorant that he does not know," said Mr. Mann, "that the price of sugar in this country would be 100 to 200 per cent higher than it is were it not for the beet sugar supply produced in this country, and yet you intend to strike down this industry in the United States.

"Make the most of your opportunity. The country is ready to say your tariff legislation is a failure, and the first opportunity the people have will be the last opportunity you will have."

Representative Underwood assigned the sugar rates in the proposed bill, describe the Louisiana cane industry as one that could not survive, and asserted that the rates in the bill would not affect the beet sugar industry. "Beet sugar in this country can be produced on an equality with European rivals with no possibility of competition within a reasonable zone," he said. "What the western beet sugar people seek is to tax the American people in order to bring their beet sugar to the Atlantic seaboard and drive out all competition. It is simply a question of freight rates."

The Japanese Question.

The Japanese question was touched upon by the debate on the wood schedule, several members predicting that reductions on shingles and other wood products would turn the lumber camps of the west into Oriental labor camps. Representative Falconer, progressive, of Washington, alluded to the democrats as "Hindu-Chinese-Japanese lovers," and told them, "Your democratic secretary of state is coming back from California to tell your democratic president some facts about Oriental labor that he does not know."

The agricultural schedule precipitated prolonged discussion, though Mr. Underwood held it down with frequent motions to cut off debate on successive paragraphs. Amendments were offered to increase the rates on cattle, sheep hogs, on wheat, oats and other grains and nearly every other item in the bill, but all were rejected.

On this schedule the session again went far into the night, though the opposition gave evidence of having largely spent its force.

Tonight there were indications that republican leaders would not undertake to delay the passage of the bill much longer. Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania, who has been active in offering minority amendments, voiced this view. He said the republicans would not attempt to filibuster, and that they had been "hammering away at the Underwood bill for four days without making a single dent in it." The fact that many who claim their business is affected are asking the republicans to hasten matters in order that they may "readjust their affairs," is said to be partly responsible for the minority attitude.

Underwood and Motorcycles.

The sparring of the parties for political advantage has been good natured in the main, and an occasional sparkle of wit with clashes between individual members has leavened the monotony of debate over dry figures. Representative Sims, of Tennessee, was questioning the reason for duty on motorcycles, and asked if the committee regarded them as luxuries or necessities.

"My boy has two of them," answered Leader Underwood, "and I would call them nuisances."

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, called them "these little chocchoc affairs that are a cross between the bicycle and the automobile."

JOHN D. PATTERSON NAMED FOR PANAMA

Atlanta Railroad Man for Superintendent of Isthmian Road--Patterson Backed by Underwood and Adamson.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 1.—(Special.)—John D. Patterson was appointed today superintendent of the Panama railroad, as the result of the fight which is being given him primarily by Oscar Underwood and Congressman W. C. Adamson, of Georgia.

Mr. Patterson is a warm friend of Mr. Underwood's, having known him intimately during his long service with the old Georgia Pacific railroad, and afterwards the Southern, running between Atlanta and Birmingham. In this service he also frequently met Congressman Adamson, of the Fourth district, whose route to Atlanta lay over the Southern railroad. He was frequently a passenger under Mr. Patterson's care, and a warm intimacy grew up between them.

When it appeared some time ago that E. M. Smith, superintendent of the Panama railroad, was about to give up this position, both Congressmen Underwood and Adamson warmly espoused the cause of Mr. Patterson, taking it up direct with Colonel Goethals, chairman of the Panama commission. Mr. Adamson is chairman of the interstate commerce committee, having in charge all Panama canal matters.

The salary of the position to which Mr. Patterson has been appointed is $7,500 a year. The appointment is effective immediately, and Mr. Patterson will leave in a few days for Panama.

He will control steamships, too. The Panama Railroad company is owned by the United States government, but is operated independently, under the direction of the isthmus canal commission. The railroad connects the seaports of Cristobal and Colon on the Atlantic side with the cities of Panama and Ancon on the Pacific side of the isthmus. It is a transcontinental railroad, strictly speaking, in competition with the big American lines.

The company also owns and operates the line of steamships between New York and Colon. Among this fleet are the largest ships afloat flying the United States flag. The fleet is operated in connection with the railroad, and its management will be under the control of Captain Patterson as general superintendent of the property.

The Panama railroad and its fleet of ships have been and still are indispensable to the construction of the Panama canal. Thousands of trains are operated daily in removing the dirt that is excavated from the canal, and the fleet of ships brings all supplies used in the canal zone from the states.

Patterson a Railroad Veteran.

There are few more popular and well-liked railroad men in the south than John D. Patterson, who will soon give up the position of superintendent of the Georgia Joint Terminals to become superintendent of the Panama Railroad company.

He has served from a passenger conductor to the superintendencies of two joint terminals, the Atlanta Terminal company and the Georgia Joint Terminals. In the capacity of superintendent of the joint terminals he has been closely associated with the heads of practically every large railroad in the southeast, and is well fitted for his new work in the canal zone.

For over twenty years he was a conductor on the Atlanta-Birmingham division of the Southern railway. He achieved the record of having never had a passenger killed on his train or of costing the road one cent of damages on account of injuries to any passenger.

Soon after the opening of the Atlanta station he was appointed superintendent of the Atlanta Terminal company, having charge of the reorganization of the operation of the Atlanta Terminal station and the Atlanta terminals. He practically revolutionized the handling of trains in the Terminal station and did away with the congestion of traffic.

WORLD PEACE NEAR, ASSERTS CARNEGIE

Ironmaster Addresses Fourth American Peace Congress. He Says Wilson Will Bring About Abolition of War.

St. Louis, May 1.—The fourth American peace congress began a three days' session here this morning with delegates present from all parts of the country.

The chief address of the morning was delivered by Andrew Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie told why he believed the nations soon would reach the goal of peace, and by what road they would travel. He described the cost of war and war-like preparation, and explained his confidence that the United States never need fear foreign invasion. President Wilson and his administration he predicted would gain immortal glory by dealing successfully with the question of world peace.

The great task Mr. Carnegie, is almost attained. "If a man wished to select the safest life possible, the one freest from all danger of violent death, let him enter our army and navy. There is not a workman attending machinery or erecting buildings, nor a railway train employee or a policeman—the soldier of civilization, whose duty is never to attack but always to protect—not one but runs far greater risk of sudden injury or death than the soldier or marine of our country does today. There is little danger of any of these ever seeing war, thank God! They will only have to parade."

Wilson Will Accomplish This.

"Recently world peace was upon the eve of victory. A treaty of peace was signed by Great Britain, and our government which would have prevented war between civilized powers, because Germany would have joined us, as its ambassador intimated.

"Why this treaty failed to receive the support of the senate need not be here dwelt upon. Suffice to say the fault was not altogether that of the senate—sometimes a blunderer is said to be worse than a crime. Well, some one blundered. Looking backward, the error is now clearly seen, and we venture to predict that the present administration will deal successfully with this vital question.

"This sole remaining task accomplished, it will rank highest of all services ever performed by man to man, because its influence will be world wide and the president will take rank above all men as the greatest world benefactor who has ever lived, because he will have laid the axe to the root of the tree and banished man-killing from the civilized world. All will good done by any or all reformers pales into insignificance coompared with the banishment of this appalling crime of crimes. This president has stood and still stands absolutely for international peace under the reign of law."

How About Japan?

While Mr. Carnegie was speaking, some one in the audience interrupted with:

"How about Japan?"

"Well," replied Mr. Carnegie, "Japan has nineteen battleships and we have thirty-three and more coming."

The questioner admitted this, but said: "Right now we are in mortal terror."

Then Mr. Carnegie appealed to the audience.

"Let every one who is not afraid of Japan stand up," he said.

Practically the entire audience stood up.

Mr. Carnegie then turned to his questioner, saying:

"Nobody else in mortal terror but you."

Benjamin F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace Society, spoke on "The Present Demands of the Peace Movement." Mr. Trueblood said that when the present administration at Washington takes up arbitration treaties, every possible influence must be brought to bear on the senate to get ratification of the compacts.

He also urged that the United States take the lead for an agreement among the powers for a limitation of armaments.

The War in the Balkans.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of St. Louis, president of the American Peace Congress, in his annual address, referred to the war in the Balkans.

"Ten or fifteen years ago," he said, "the lighting of a match in the Balkans would have caused an European conflagration. But today the great powers, averse to disturbance, are entering peace conditions by using the rod against the unruly children who are driving the Turk out of Europe.

"What conclusions can we draw from this spectacle than that the desire for peace has become stronger than armies or navies, or the temptation to use them?"

Pan-American delegates this afternoon discussed "Inter-American relations."

Senor Don Ignacio Calderon, Bolivian minister to the United States, told of the struggle of his nation to reap the blessings with which it has been endowed by nature.

"We are anxious," he said, "to receive the vitalizing influence of immigration, which is doing so much for some of our neighboring republics, and has done so much for the United States. Therefore, we are in a position to appreciate keenly the benefits of influence of peace.

"The United States is to me unique in the family of nations. Great and materially powerful, its mission is to me yet greater as the leader in the noblest ideals mankind strives to attain."

JAPANESE PROBLEM IN LIVING YELLOW SHOWN TO BRYAN

Governor of California Takes the Secretary of State to a Large Oriental Colony Near Sacramento.

MANY JAP CHILDREN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Legislature Will Pass Anti-Alien Law Today—Wilson Sends Another Warning Message to Gov. Johnson.

Sacramento, Cal., May 1.—The Japanese problem in California, as it actually exists on the farms and ranches of the Sacramento valley, was viewed at close range by Secretary of State Bryan this morning in the course of a two-hour automobile run through the thickly populated Florin district, ten miles south of the capital.

Governor Johnson and Assemblyman Hugh Bradford, who accompanied the secretary, had figures to explain the scenes that met the eyes of their visitor, and Mr. Bryan seemed deeply interested. His only comment, however, at the end of the trip, was that he had seen "not only a Japanese colony, but a very mighty California valley."

In the Florin district, embracing about 25 square miles of rich soil, there is a population of 1,500 Japanese farmers and 100 Americans. Twelve years ago there were less than a score of Japanese in the community; now they practically control the grape and berry industries of that section.

They own the factory where the berry boxes are made and when the party visited the shop Mr. Bryan saw thirty-five Japanese girls at work.

He was told by Governor Johnson that six years ago American girls were employed there at higher wages and with shorter hours of labor.

Japs in Public Schools.

A stop was made at the district school of Florin, where the party visited the first grade. It was a typical school room with pictures of Washington and Lincoln on the walls, but in the seats there were twenty-two Japanese children and twenty American boys and girls. The American youngsters were six and seven years old; the Japanese included several boys were 16, and so large that new desks had been supplied for them.

There are more than 5,000 Japanese subjects in Sacramento county, according to the 1910 census.

There are more than 1,500 Japanese in the Florin colony, where scores of big farms are owned and hundreds of acres are leased.

There are 12 Japanese children out of a total enrollment of 67 pupils in the Florin public schools.

In Walnut Grove, Isleton and Sierra, neighboring towns in the same community, the number of Japanese children in the public schools ranges from 40 to 50 per cent.

(Governor Johnson said he was pleased that Secretary Bryan had accepted the invitation to see for himself "California's best argument for an anti-alien law."

When the party returned to the capitol the senate was in the act of taking up for final consideration the bill that is designed to restore Florin and similar communities to Caucasian ownership.

Bill to Be Passed Today.

An indication of the form democratic opposition will take to the passage of the Webb re-draft of the anti-alien land bill was given in the senate today when the measure came up for final action.

It was the original plan of the progressive republican majority in its assurance of a successful issue to force the bill to a vote at once, but at the request of the democrats, a postponement of one day was granted at the last minute. The matter was set as a special order for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

In return for the delay the administration leaders received a pledge from the minority that it would abide by the results as shown in the final roll call tomorrow, and not demand a reconsideration. Thus the progressives feel that although apparently they lost a day, in reality they saved several by checking further efforts to impede their plans.

The brief debate today on the motion to postpone disclosed that the democrats have hardened to the advice from Washington, as delivered by Secretary of State Bryan, and will make a formal stand in support of the national administration. To meet the issue squarely, Senator Curtin, democrat, introduced a resolution setting forth the fact that President Wilson is opposed to the land bill and including the following declaration:

"Be it resolved, That the people of the state of California do hereby defer to the wishes of the president of the United States, and this legislature will not, at this session, pass the bills herein mentioned."

It is believed generally that to the extent of supporting Curtin's resolution, the democrats will defer to Secretary Bryan. Beyond that, however, their party platform in California calls upon them to aid in the enactment of an anti-alien land law, and most of them are expected to cast their votes for the Webb bill if it succeeds in escaping amendm t.

Senator Caminetti, democrat, working independently of his colleagues, is preparing several amendments to the Webb bill to be offered tomorrow. The drafts were not completed tonight, he said, and he declined to discuss the changes he expects to propose.

PRESIDENT WILSON WARNS GOV. JOHNSON

Sacramento, Cal., May 1.—The following telegram from President Wilson was received here today by Governor Johnson:

"I take the liberty of calling your attention to the Webb bill, which would involve an appeal to the courts on the question of treaty rights and bring on what might be long and delicate litigation."

Governor Johnson immediately replied:

"I thank you very much for your suggestion. The fault may be due to the fact that we have endeavored to preserve affirmatively upon the face of our bill the existing treaty. I have referred the matter at once to our attorney general and I would be extremely grateful for any suggestions that would avoid the objection you mention."

Governor Johnson transmitted the correspondence to Senator Thompson, one of the authors of the original bill, with this comment:

"In consultation with Attorney General Webb we are unable to see how any language can be employed which might not be ultimately subject to the same objection that is suggested in the president's telegram.

"The attorney general in the bill prepared, has endeavored affirmatively to preserve all treaty rights, and any bill that might be passed upon the subject of alien land ownership, of course, would, from our standpoint, endeavor in the most emphatic fashion to protect our national good faith in the matter of treaties that have heretofore been executed and none of us would impair—no matter what might be the legal question involved—the obligations of any treaty that may have been heretofore made. This being our desire, it seems to the attorney general and myself that no language can be employed that will not be equally open to the objection suggested."

Courts Will Decide.

It is the belief both of Governor Johnson and Attorney General Webb that regardless of how the act was worded it probably would involve an appeal to the courts, as suggested by President Wilson.

Attorney General Webb, in a statement tonight, said:

"I have been shown the president's telegram to the governor to the effect that the proposed land bill might involve an appeal to the courts, and I have been in the minds of everyone having to do with this subject of legislation since the beginning of the session that any character of the bill must necessarily have the same thing.

"No method of avoiding an appeal to the courts has occurred to us, and if the federal government is advised of the existence of a way to avoid the question without a complete and unwarranted surrender of the rights of the state, it is to be regretted that such method is not pointed out by the telegram.

"If this act should be passed I quite realize that hereafter some person might contend for greater rights than the act would seem, on its face, to give him, and in that case it would be quite proper for the courts to pass upon the question. I am at a loss, however, at this time to understand how the federal government could become in any way involved in or be responsible for such a contention."

Secretary Bryan, who was in his temporary office at the capitol building all day with the exception of the time spent on his inspection trip through a near-by Japanese colony, has declined to discuss the question raised by the president.

There is much interest in the future movements of the secretary of state, who has given out no word as to his intended plans other than to say that he expects to remain in Sacramento "for several days."

LAST WORD IS SPOKEN BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, May 1.—Just before leaving Washington for a two-day trip through New Jersey today, President Wilson sent to California what probably will be his last direct word on the projected alien land owning law. It was a message to Governor Johnson suggesting that the Webb bill, which the progressive majority plans to put through the California legislature today, "would involve an appeal to the courts on the question of treaty rights and bring on what might be long and delicate litigation."

The governor replied immediately that he "would be extremely grateful for any suggestions that would avoid the objection you mention."

Time came after the president had left the white house.

At the state department absolute silence is maintained. It is made plain that there will be no announcements before the return of Secretary Bryan. The Japanese embassy is equally reticent, although it is generally understood in official circles that the Webb bill is regarded there as even more offensive than any of the previous drafts of proposed legislation.

That the Japanese are not disposed to let pass unchallenged the frequent statements from California of the great menace to the state of the extensive land holdings of Japanese subjects is evidenced by the unofficial production of statistics here claimed to demonstrate the insignificant quantity of land held by the Japanese in fee simple. Included in the statistics are figures taken from last year's reports of the California bureau of labor statistics showing that in March last year the Japanese owned only 331 farms in full ownership, a total acreage of 12,755, or just one-fourth of the area of the District of Columbia. The same statistics show that the Japanese holdings increased only 1,000 acres from 1911 to 1912. These facts are expected to be injected into the negotiations between American and Japan after Secretary Bryan returns to the capital.

GEORGIA EDUCATORS HOLD FIRST SESSION

Prominent Speakers Will Make Addresses This Morning—Meeting of County School Officials Closes.

The opening session of the annual meeting of the Georgia Educational association was held last evening at Taft hall and there was a large audience present.

The association will meet twice Friday and once on Saturday morning. The department meetings will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Thursday evening the invocation was given by Dr. R. O. Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

There were addresses of welcome by Governor Joseph M. Brown and Professor William M. Slaton, superintendent of the Atlanta public schools.

The response was made by Professor Claude Hall, Superintendent E. W. dent of schools.

Dr. F. H. Gaines, president of Agnes Scott college, made an interesting talk on "The Present Trend in the Education of Women." He said it was pleasing to know that America, the greatest nation of the world, was among the foremost countries in giving to women an opportunity to secure the highest order of education. He pointed out what the present female colleges are doing and what is required to improve them. His address was well received and it will probably be printed in pamphlet form for distribution.

The program for Friday will be as follows:

Supt. W. V. Lanier's Address.

No address during the convention created more interest and favorable comment than that of Superintendent W. V. Lanier, of Jenkins county. His topic was "The Relative Value of Studies in the Curriculum."

Superintendent Lanier is one of the most widely known educators of the state, and he is one of the most influential.

Among other things he said:

"To discuss the relative values in the curriculum some questions need to be asked and answered. What is the purpose of education?

"What is education? Why have a curriculum at all? Are all the subjects of equal value? If not, which subject is of most and which is of least importance?

To start with the first question I ask another. Is it the purpose of education to make a living or make a life? There is a great deal of difference in the two. The lower animals as we see them make or earn a living, but do not live. Existence is only one thing living is another. Men, women and the lower animals exist as seen and earn a living, but all live? Some exist without education, but do they live?

"Education is to have the soul and drink the water and by that means pays for what he eats and wears exists and possibly, by frugal practice, adds to his store of riches, but does he always live?

"The answer to the second question. What is education? I submit is making a life. It is that that reaches out beyond the appetites of the body and develops the spiritual and helps to develop it. It goes further and lays hold on the mental man and opens up to him beauties that are hidden in the rose, glories that shine forth from the crimson sunset or from the twinkling stars, anthems that are poured forth from the throats of the feathered songsters of the forest, music that kindles the heart from the laughing brook, terrors that ride in the chariots of the storm and solemn consternation that leaps from the lightning flash.

"It goes further than that. It reaches into the realm of the spiritual and finds God in the sunburst, recognizes Him in the gloaming and hears Him in the still small voice. In short, it is that that causes man to be lifted beyond the self-centered existence into that real state where he loses sight of self and with his capacities and ambitions to the needs, toh accomplishments, toh desires and the worth ambitions of his fellows and help them. It goes further than that and enables man to look beyond his fellow-man to the brightness that comes from the author and creator and see God.

Value of Various Studies in the Curriculum.

"If this is education, and I think you will agree with me that it is, then why have a curriculum at all? Why not let each child select for himself? But we may proceed with system and accuracy to the desired end.

"Then comes the next question. Are all the subjects of equal value? The answer is one that has puzzled the most emphatic words in our language. It is no, forever no.

"Than no thinking people will desire to know which is most valuable by that we understand most to the development and education of men and women.

"The studies that best bring out the important relation of man to the Creator should have preference, but as the world will not take that one book, we accept the affirmative answer to this question as applied to the state curriculum, but instantly submit that the most important of the state studies is the one that prepares best the mind to pursue the greater studies beyond the state's province to teach.

"I submit that in my judgment the per cent of time given in the school to any subject should be in exact ration of importance of the study to life.

"Too frequently when children leave the common school and enter the high school the studies are placed at a wonderful disadvantage because the pupil cannot read tf do not mean cannot call the words; a problem in algebra or a theorem in geometry. They find modern and ancient history full of riddles, largely because they have not learned to read in the lower grades.

"For the sake of emphasis allow me to repeat. Read real biography, read literature, really read prose, read poetry. Then write, reproduce, think, compose, think again and criticise and re-write. Cultivate the imagination, look into space and see beauty, explore the caverns with your mind's eye and see greatness, gaze from the mountain peaks and catch inspiration. Look through heroic deeds and touch the stars, revel with the poet and rise above the politician of to-dy; dwell with the artist and see new visions; gaze into the firmament and catch a glimpse of God and then live."

PLAYING HIDE AND SEEK, CHILD IS BITTEN BY DOG

While playing "hide and go seek" with a crowd of children of the neighborhood, little 10-year-old Alga Peters, of 216 South Pryor street, was attacked and seriously bitten on her arm and face by a bull dog belonging to G. G. Waters, of 98 Woodward avenue, shortly before dusk last night.

Olga was runing up an alley by the side of her home, trying to find a good place to hide. She was suddenly terrified by the sight of the brute leaping at her.

She threw her hand in front of her face and screamed for help. Before anyone could reach her, however, the dog knocked her down, biting her on the face and arms. She was hurried to her home, where her wounds were pronounced serious by a doctor.

The owner of the dog refused to allow policemen to shoot it, and it is stated that a case will be made against him in the recorder's court today.

MORGAN ART TREASURES INSURED FOR $23,000,000

New York, May 1.—Contracts were drawn today insuring the art collection of the late J. P. Morgan for $23,000,000. The premium will be $102,800. All the fire insurance companies authorized to do business in this state have taken their full quota of the insurance and about $4,000,000 has been placed abroad. The insurance on the collection in the Metropolitan museum carries $15,000,000 at a rate of 40 cents per $100 and the books and art objects in the Morgan library are insured for $8,000,000 at a rate of 16 cents per $100.

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—Under the provisions of a bill passed by the senate tonight the J. P. Morgan art collection would be exempted from the state inheritance tax, provided the collection is turned over "to a municipal corporation of the state for educational, scientific, literary, library or historical purposes" by the heirs within two years.

Unique Suit Tried.

Griffin, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—A unique suit was tried in a neighboring county that has interesting features in it. The ordinary was sued for issuing a marriage license to a girl under 18 years years, and against the wishes of the parent. Judge Harris, the ordinary, was found not guilty. While the ordinary was absent from his office the clerk of the court issued the license. As the case had to be sued by the clerk, it stood on the docket thus, "Fouche, clerk of superior court, v. Harris, ordinary." Since Mr. Fouche issued the license he appeared at the prosecution of the ordinary for what he had done himself.

COSMOPOLITAN LIFE HAS ENTERED FIELD

J. O. Wynn Is Head of the New Company, Which Has Taken Over the Assets of the Old One.

The insurance department of Georgia yesterday issued a license to do business to the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company of Atlanta, and the company has already actively entered the field. The following statement was made by its officials on Thursday:

"The insurance commission, before issuing the license, went carefully over the company's detailed statement, which showed in itemized form every asset and liability. This statement was verified and approved by the commission, and license was issued of date May 1, 1913. The company begins business under the most favorable auspices and with the strong financial backing of some of Atlanta's and Georgia's foremost business men. Many of these are connected with its official force, which also has allied with it some of the most capable insurance men in the country.

"It is to the company's credit that its entire capital stock, subscribed at 2 for 1, that is, $100 to surplus to each $100 of stock, was sold without one penny of charge against it. This was brought about chiefly through the efforts of J. O. Wynn, the new company's president. As a general rule, whenever a life insurance company is organized and started in business a considerable percentage is paid for the sale of the stock, but in the case of the Cosmopolitan, every dollar paid in for stock and surplus has gone directly into the company's treasury.

Assets of $368,575.

"This capital stock and surplus, amounting to $280,036, together with $108,539.70 of undivided profits, gives the company actual available assets of $368,575.70. The undivided profits were acquired through the purchase of the assets of the old company. These do not include $137,478.62 of stock notes which the company holds, and upon which it is estimated $50,000 will be realized. This will make the book value of the company's stock from the start 3 for 1, whereas it was sold at 2 for 1.

"In addition to the foregoing splendid financial showing, the company has over $2,000,000 of outstanding insurance upon its books acquired from the old company, with no agency charge against it. At the most conservative value as an asset, this is said to be worth to the company at least $20,000.

"The Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company of Atlanta is a new company. It has no connection whatever with the old company of same name and has had none except to purchase its assets at public sale.

"As a further evidence of the faith of the stockholders in the new organization and its possibilities, it may be stated that on the day of organization they subscribed to more than $60,000 of life insurance in the company against which there will be no commission charges.

Wynn a Recognized Head.

"President Wynn is recognized throughout the south as one of the most capable and successful insurance managers. He has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, and it is not unusual that the company should have had many applications for agencies from men of the highest grade in Georgia and other southern states. It is safe to say that within a very short time the company will have a strong agency force at work.

"It is the purpose of the company to be as liberal as possible with its agents and policyholders consistent with the law and careful management, but it is determined that conservatism shall mark the conduct of its business, and the well known Atlanta insurance men and financiers who are back of it, give every assurance of safety in this respect."

SERGEANT K. S. FOSTER DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Sergeant Knight S. Foster, for 18 years a member of the Atlanta police force, died Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock, while sitting in his library at 302 Grant street, conversing with his son, Colonel J. G. Foster, a Marietta attorney.

Heart failure is said to be the cause of the sergeant's death, which comes as a great shock to his comrades on the force and his many friends all over Georgia, by whom he was beloved. Just before he died Sergeant Knight had been seen by several of his neighbors, many of whom had chatted with him in his yard. He was 73 years old, and became a member of the Atlanta police force on October 9, 1895, when he was 54 years of age. He was on the evening watch at Five Points, and was a familiar figure in the central portion of Atlanta.

The funeral will be from St. Paul's Methodist church at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and interment will be at Marietta.

SHEEP FOR THE BLUE RIDGE

Increase in the nation-wide demand for mutton as a substitute for beef and pork opens up a tremendous opportunity for the southern Blue Ridge, adapted by nature, to produce sheep sufficient to feed, perhaps, the whole country. Two or three years ago the market for mutton began to appreciate as beef and pork went higher and higher. The tendency will inevitably be enhanced as a result of federal inspection last year which demonstrated that in all the millions of sheep and lambs brought during that period to market there was found not one case of tuberculosis. The many people who, whether justly or otherwise, fear this disease in cattle will find an additional reason to use mutton on their tables. Another cause for the increasing popularity of mutton is found in the high food value now placed upon it by science as well as in its palatability when properly prepared.

No section is more fitted to profit by these combined conditions than is the southern Blue Ridge. From Georgia on up through Virginia the mountainous territory has every qualification for sheep-raising on a gigantic scale. The climate is ideal. Ranging ground is abundant. The soil and climate together are as if designed by providence for the production of those crops upon which sheep thrive.

An additional argument for the revival of the sheep industry in this region is that prices for beef and pork are infallibly destined to go higher and not lower with time. The vast ranches of the west, where it once was profitable to raise and graze huge herds and which formerly furnished low-priced beef, are becoming things of the past. Year by year the production of beef cattle falls farther short of reaching demand. Under these circumstances it is inevitable that prices, despite tariff revision, can be hardly more than temporarily halted in their upward trend.

The development of the sheep industry offers itself as a natural and at least a partial solution of this problem of the masses. Much lower in price than beef, as nourishing and freer from disease, the nation will turn to it more and more in the future. Herein lies the chance of the Blue Ridge. With small personal outlay the farmers of this section could, within a short period, build a self-sustaining industry of huge profit. The reward is waiting. Initiative and energy only are needed to claim it.

STATE RIGHTS THEN AND NOW

A unique and interesting contribution to the California-Japan controversy is the communication, published elsewhere, in which Professor Joseph T. Derry intimates that California is now virtually repudiating the doctrine of federal sovereignty which she helped to impose on the south as a result of the civil war. Professor Derry's views carry unusual interest from the fact that he was once preceptor to President Wilson. He is an enthusiastic confederate veteran and among the state's accredited historians. In these capacities he is recognized as an authority upon events and theories preceding the sixties as well as upon the sentiment among the survivors of today.

Professor Derry indicates that California's action with regard to anti-alien legislation is based upon supremacy of state over nation, in other words a flat assertion of the extreme of the old state rights doctrine. Yet he declares that not the most ultra antebellum advocate of this doctrine would have suggested that the state had the right to remain in the union and take action calculated to embarrass the other states. The antebellum apostles of state rights believed the state was sovereign. But they also believed that when disagreement with the nation was irrevocable, the state should, and could, leave the nation, set up a separate republic and absolve the nation from responsibility in the premises. As Professor Derry states, that doctrine was tested out by the civil war.

But California is evidently advancing the theory that it may proceed independently of the other states, and then look to the union to get it out of any trouble that it may bring about.

The former teacher of the president, and now the indorser of his course in an important international controversy, opens up an interesting discussion.

KEEP AN OPEN MIND

Notwithstanding all that has happened since the finding of the murdered body of Mary Phagan, nothing has yet been developed that in any way fixes the crime on any individual.

Several arrests have been made and in the excitement incident to the affair suspicion has been directed from one person to another as the kaleidoscope has turned on the investigation.

All of which goes to show that the public is often constrained to reach hasty and frequently unwarranted conclusions. It is certain that all of the parties against whom suspicion has, in one way or another, been directed cannot be guilty; under the evidence yet developed none of them can be said to be guilty of the atrocious crime.

Sooner or later the "murder will out," but the verdict must come in an orderly and a legal way, and until something more definite develops than has yet been ascertained it is the duty of the public to keep an open mind.

Nothing can be more unjust nor more repugnant to the popular sense of justice than to convict even by hearsay an innocent man.

The Constitution, therefore, takes this occasion to call upon the public to suspend judgment and not to endeavor to convict, even by indirection, any one who has not had the full and fair showing guaranteed by the constitution of the state and of the United States, not to speak of the all-pervading guarantee that the public's sense of justice should throw around any man who, by law, is presumed to be innocent until he is proven to be guilty.

We say this without reference to any individual, but in justice to all who are even indirectly under suspicion.

THE CHILD AND THE FLY

The war against the typhoid-fly is apt to be given perceptible impetus by the action of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in offering to the school children a reward of $100 for the best essay on "The Prevention of the Breeding of the Fly." The offer comes through President Wilmer Moore and Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, is open to all children, and no length limit has been set. The easy conditions will probably make of the contest the most lively one of its nature ever held in this city.

The chamber of commerce is, in this respect, employing fundamental weapons in its fight for the suppression of disease. No campaign of long duration, such as the one against the fly, can be successful without the thorough co-operation of the children of the city, and co-operation is impossible unless the child is properly educated in the perils of the fly and how to avert them.

The original cry of "swat the fly!" has been enlarged to "break up the breeding places of the fly." Killing individual flies is, of course, of great aid in the battle for health. But the more effectual plan is to deprive the fly of his breeding and feeding places. Close up these against him and the problem speedily solves itself.

The prize contest inaugurated by the chamber of commerce is calculated to set to work every child in the city in the gleaning of information as to how flies breed and the damage they do and are capable of doing. Children cannot learn these facts without becoming active apostles of clean and sanitary premises. It would be an excellent plan if the methods selected by Atlanta's commercial organization were employed generally throughout the state.

UNWRITTEN LAW INDICTED.

Judge L. S. Roan is due the gratitude of every thoughtful citizen for his recent plain utterances in condemnation of the so-called "unwritten law." At the conclusion of a case in his court in which that plea had been the main defense he declared that "there is no unwritten law," and commended the jury for ignoring it. He told the prisoner that he had been misguided in assuming to usurp the functions of justice as executioner, and that if more jurymen did their duty fewer men would let their passions get the better of them.

It is full time that some such straightforward words were spoken. Carried to the logical conclusion, universal application of the "unwritten law" means no law at all, and, ultimately, anarchy. Its chief menace is that each man with a real or fancied grievance is given the right to construe law according to his own vindictive impulses. Under such a regime no life is safe. The juryman who is easily tolerant of this sort of extra-legal justice may himself at any unexpected crisis become the victim of it.

Not only are the jurymen in this particular case to be thanked, but also the judge. If more of the men who sit on our tribunals would speak as candidly as Judge Roan society will have fewer murders with which to contend.

They Hear Caruso Sing.

I.

Billville didn't get a show at opera—you bet,
But now that they've departed we're hearin' of it yet;
We're getting just 'bout all the joys the opera can bring,
For on the Billville funnygraph we hear Caruso sing.

II.

That voice of his goes just the same—it's soarin' to the sky,
An' for the Billville citizens he makes the music fly;
Though they're callin' us provincial, you bet we're in the swing
Since on the Billville funnygraph we hear Caruso sing.

III.

'Tain't like the songs of Zion, or old "Amazin' Grace."
But when we hear him singin' the light shines in each face;
The words are far beyond us, but the soul is talkin' wing
To higher, happier stations when we hear Caruso sing.

IV.

So, when he's gone so far away from where the city shines
His voice comes down, with Love to stray, way out here, in the pines;
An' so, we hear Love callin', an' still to Love we cling
When on the funnygraph of life we hear Caruso sing.

Two Versions.

Here are two versions of a day off in the fields. The first is by the poet of The Milwaukee Sentinel, the last by Judd Mortimer Lewis, of The Houston Post:

"I rested in a field today.
About the flow'rs were springing;
I rested in a field today.
The mud was wet and clinging;
I rested in a field today.
The treetops all were rocking;
I rested in a field today.
And ants crawled up my stocking."

"I rested in a field today.
Above me clouds were drifting;
I rested in a field today.
About me blooms were lifting;
I rested in a field today.
About me bugs were questing;
I rested in a field today.
Wife says I'm always resting."

Only trouble about the above is that there's no such thing as a poet "resting" in a field. Every time the farmers catch 'em they are put to plowing.

Gossip Caught in Corridors Of the National Capitol

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 1.—(Special.)—Senator Works, of California, wants to uplift the press. As pointing the way, he has introduced a bill to prohibit any newspaper published in the District of Columbia from giving the details of any crime or accident.

While the Works bill, if it should become a law, would shroud in secrecy many of the harrowing details of crimes which mark the daily march of human progress, it is not at all certain that it would mean a lessening of crime.

John Corrigan, Jr.

The daily newspaper is only the daily record of events which tomorrow becomes permanent history. Naturally, the unusual and the exceptional incidents of the day's happenings are featured, though at intervals a condensed record of advancement in business, in learning, in science and in art is set before the public.

As the "mirror of human nature," the newspaper best fills its place, which gives the most faithful account of the passing show, toned down to meet the requirements of wise conventions and the demands of decency.

Senator Works professes to believe that the newspaper man revels in this phase of his work, and he "shudders to think" of the school of crime and debauchery in which young men are being brought up and with the intimate details of which they must become familiar.

But, who is it that demands this information? He says the publishers of newspapers should ask themselves the question. Rather, it seems to me, the public which buys the papers giving the fullest and most graphic accounts of wrecks, and fires, and accidents; that exhausts the editions of yellow journals giving the salacious details of divorces and murder trials and crimes of violence, should ask themselves who is responsible.

Another frequent complaint against the newspaper is that it "gets its facts all wrong." Unless the ubiquitous reporter happens to be right on the spot, he must gather his information from the witnesses and bystanders. Yet the man who looks on without seeing, who hears a sermon and afterwards can't remember the text; who sees a play and for the life of him cannot recall the names of the characters, the plot or the lines that appeal to him; who is present at an accident but doesn't notice the number of the street car or auto, the precise time it happens, or the appearance of those involved, is amazed that a newspaper gets an occasional detail wrong.

A complimentary notice about a friend is "just newspaper talk," but a fulsome eulogy of himself or his family is evidence of good sound judgment, and makes a "splendid article."

The recital of another's misfortunes makes interesting reading; that of his own is an infernal outrage and an invasion of his private rights. Yet, next to uplifting the stage, the moralists find their greatest field for activity in "uplifting the press."

Good Christian people who urge their children to read indiscriminately the books of the Bible, with its tragic record of human crime and misery, as well as its glorious record of regeneration and salvation; who admire the works of Shakespeare without realizing that the boldness and daring and unrestrained imagination of parts of those writings would bring an author in this conventional age under the taboo; who revel in the rhythm of Swinburne and the raptures of Strauss, condemn as a demoralizing force in the community the daily press.

A common criticism by members of the bar, sometimes uttered as an apology, is that newspaper men must write what they are paid to write. They make this statement with great unction, and with apparently no thought of its bad taste. Yet the same honorable jurists will accept a large retainer to take a case involving long litigation that he believes to be practically hopeless. He says to himself the courts might alter their precedents, and that his client's case may have a different question from those already decided.

The last person in the world to criticise a newspaper man for writing what he is paid to write is the man who advocates that view of the law which is the most profitable and whose largest fees come from advice as to how to evade the law. I don't like to hear lawyers reflect on newspaper writers, or make Pharasaical excuses for them.

He Finds Some Good.

Senator Works finds some good in the newspapers, however, for he says:

"The newspaper is a great and powerful influence in a free country like ours, where the press is free and untrammeled. That influence may work for good or evil. The publisher of a newspaper takes upon himself responsibilities of the highest order. He may make his publication an influence and support for the very best in public and private life. It finds its way into the homes of people, and may be an inspiration and uplift that can do more than almost any other force to purify thought, elevate manhood and womanhood, direct the steps of the young to a higher standard of purity and righteousness, elevate citizenship, inspire young and old to a better understanding of the obligations of citizenship in a free republic like ours, and a higher and more unselfish patriotism. Such should be the mission of every publication."

Mr. Works would have the front page of a newspaper read like this:

"Sensational Murder in Brown's Hotel.—John Blank, the wealthy retired diamond merchant, is killed as he slept. Dashing widow is being sought by the police. (For further details, call up our obliging city editor.)"

Or a railroad wreck might be reported thus:

"On a high embankment just beyond Bad Man's Crossing the palatial flyer of the Sundown railroad left the track, killing eight and wounding a score of persons. The injured are—(For information as to the extent of the injuries, call up the hospital.)"

A robbery might be presented in this shape and get by the censor:

"Between sundown of Saturday and 7 o'clock on Monday, thieves entered the jewelry establishment of Brooks & Brooks and rifled their safe, making a haul worth $40,000. (Details of the crime cannot be given here for fear of its demoralizing effect.)"

In one respect, Senator Works is quite right. The newspaper man who writes the story of crime would probably become inoculated with the poisonous virus before the man who reads it is affected, if the publication of news of this character is really harmful. It is consoling that the senator "shudders" when he thinks about it, but his admission that the newspaper man would be the first and surest victim proves that his shudders are needless and his fears greatly exaggerated. Few newspaper reporters in this country have "sprouting wings," or can lay claim to all the virtues; but, in spite of their occupation, few of them ever originate a crime or land in the penitentiary.

It is not believed that the senator's attempt to "bridle the press" will receive much support. The country deplores sensational newspapers, but it is not ready for the suppression of the facts concerning a murder. The fact that a murder has been committed and the guilty brought to a speedy justice, when published in the newspapers is a deterrent to some reader who discovers that it is daily becoming harder for the guilty to escape. The newspapers, by wide publication of crimes and clews, have aided in bringing many guilty persons to the bar of justice who would have gone unpunished if the senator's ideals of journalism were effective throughout the country.

Vardaman's Views.

"Californians, in their effort to deny Japanese the right to own land in that state, are acting entirely within their rights. I don't care what the consequences are to our national relations or to our foreign trade," said Senator Vardaman, of Mississippi, today in discussing Mr. Bryan's trip to the Pacific coast.

"This question is more vital than one of mere economics or politics. It strikes at the preservation of the white race. No people whom we cannot assimilate, and whom we are not willing to permit to share our citizenship, should have the right to own land anywhere in this country.

"If this means an interference with our friendly relations with another nation, let it come. All the trade of the Orient is not to be weighed against racial integrity for the Anglo-Saxon."

Senator Vardaman announced that he would introduce at the next session a resolution to amend the federal constitution so as to modify the fourteenth and amend the fifteenth amendment.

"This is more important than any tariff, or money, or trust legislation," he said.

Jefferson's Views.

"Thomas Jefferson in his manual has thrown some light on the power of the government to make treaties. He says this power was lodged in the president and the senate, two branches of the lawmaking body. The subjects to which their power extended, he said, were not defined in detail by the constitution, nor were the men of his time entirely agreed.

"It must have meant to except out of these the rights reserved to the states," he said: "that surely, the president and senate cannot do by treaty what the whole government is interdicted from doing in any way."

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, chairman of the foreign relations committee, agrees with this.

"That covers the case," said Mr. Bacon. "Mr. Bryan's suggestion to California that the land law should only apply to those who have not taken out their first papers, and make its application general, rather than apply it to those who are ineligible to become citizens, is a good one. The people of California, while exercising their rights, should have regard to national considerations so far as they can do so with safety to themselves."

INTERESTING SEQUEL TO THE OLD WAR BIBLE

(From The Elmira, N. Y., Star-Gazette.)

Fred C. Casady is the versatile correspondent of The Star-Gazette over North Chemung way. He is versatile, because when his copy reaches the paper, no one can tell on the start-off where the story is going to land. Mr. Casady's writings are enjoyable because of their quaintness and deep humor. If he can lay hold of some ancient relic, he is in his glory, for then his imagination has full swing. He is as full of reminiscence as a dictionary is full of words, and his long-time residence in official Washington furnishes him abundant material for elaboration of wonderful philosophies. When he gets all of it out of his system he then begins to talk about things personal to North Chemung. If you have not read the North Chemung column which appears in The Star-Gazette once a week, just because you have a notion you are not interested in things over the hill, don't "pass it up" again. If you want quaintness, Fred Casady will interest you. However, this is merely introductory.

Mr. Casady has just been the recipient of a novel watch fob. It is a minnie bullet, as large as an acorn, handsomely mounted, and inscribed. Herewith is the history of the affair:

A. B. Houston, of Decatur, Ga., is secretary and treasurer of the Decatur Electric Light, Power and Water company. He is a son of the late Major Washington J. Houston, confederate veteran who traced the route for the return of the famous Atlanta Institute Bible to Miss Amanda Mayson, sister of the Rev. James R. Mayson, founder of the seminary, which was burned during Sherman's march to the sea. Miss Mayson was one of the donors of the Bible, of the class of 1860, who gave it to the seminary. The Bible was sent in 1864 to Dr. Tracy Beadle, of Elmira, to hold for Paul Collson, who picked it up near the ruins of the seminary, among some other things evidently cast out of a window hurriedly. The Bible was sent by The Star-Gazette to Clark Howell, three years ago, by request of Captain Collson, who desired to return it before he died. Mr. Howell, editor of The Atlanta Constitution, at a reunion of the Fighting Forty-second Georgia, at its forty-sixth anniversary of the Battle of Atlanta, July 22, 1910, presented the Bible to the surviving relative, Miss Mayson.

Mr. Houston's place was passed by Sherman's army, including the 107th New York, an Elmira regiment. His house is on or near the battlefield, and he picked up the bullet the other day in his door yard—fifty years spent—forty-nine years to be exact. In a letter that accompanied the souvenir, Mr. Houston says to Mr. Casady: "I am sending you a small remembrance by mail today. This article you will find quite heavy for the use for which it is intended; but of course, you may keep it as a reminder of the esteem one in the far south has for you. It was found in my back yard some time since when I was out digging to make an automobile drive, I myself finding it. Your friend, A. B. Houston."

The fob is inscribed "A. B. H. to Fred C." It should be stated that, on behalf of the late Captain Paul Collson, Mr. Casady did all the correspondence that led to the return of the famous Bible, an incident that was fully described in The Star-Gazette at the time. It was made a big story by Editor Howell, in his paper, and the presentation and reception of the Bible by the bronzed veterans of the confederates was the great event of their reunion. Mr. Casady is very proud of the sanguinary souvenir not only because of its sentimental value, but because of the thoughtful and generous sentiments of the chivalrous southern gentleman who sent it.

California Invents New State Rights Theory, Says Wilson's Teacher

Declaring that if in 1861 the southern advocates of state rights had construed that doctrine as California is now construing it they would have held themselves guilty of "treason" to the union, Professor Joseph T. Derry, once teacher of Woodrow Wilson, enthusiastic confederate veteran and well-known Georgia historian, contributes a unique chapter to the current California-Japan controversy.

Professor Derry's contention is that ante-bellum southern state rights advocates declared, as does California today, that the sovereignty of the state was supreme. But he says these advocates believed that if they remained in the union they had no right to embarrass the other states by enacting laws or pursuing programs that might embroil all of them. When agreement reached this stage, the dissenting states could set up separate republics, and the remainder of the union was absolved of responsibility. Confederate veterans are, he says, "amazed" at the action of California, one of the states instrumental in rendering against the south the decision to the effect that nation and not state was paramount, now virtually abrogating that verdict.

Professor Derry's letter follows:

The State and the Union.

"Editor Constitution: The most ultra advocate of state rights in the ante-bellum days never claimed that a state could remain in the union and take any action tending to embarrass the government of the United States in its dealings with foreign powers.

"While they held that paramount sovereignty resided in the state, which had the authority to judge for itself when its rights were invaded and to decide upon the means of redress, even to the extent of withdrawing from the union, they also held that secession would make a state an independent republic and release the union from any obligation to defend it. To remain in the union placed upon the state the most binding obligation to obey the laws of the union.

"Action such as that which California has been proposing to take would have been regarded by the whole south as rank treason against sister states and the federal union.

"As has been well said, the question of paramount sovereignty was decided against us at Appomattox, and we confederate soldiers accepted that decision without mental reservation, and have ever deemed ourselves honor-bound to abide by it.

"We old confederates are amazed at the action of California, one of the states that helped to render the decision against us.

NERVES.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Nerves are tiny white threads, which are used in wiring up the human system, and connecting all outlying districts with headquarters.

This is the scientific definition of nerves. However, this differs from the common use of the word. Scientifically, every one has nerves. However, if a woman mentions her nerves she refers to the peculiar disease which keeps her from making herself useful, and enables her doctor to buy a new automobile every year.

Nerves, carelessly speaking, is a complaint. Sometimes it is located in the real nerves, but more often it can be found in the brain, between the areas of superstition and suspicion. Nerves prevent many people from enjoying life, and prevent many others from doing anything whatever in the nature of toil.

When a woman has nerves, rest and quiet are the best remedy. This can be supplemented by a few light novels a day, a reasonable amount of candy, a pleasant doctor, not too homely, a little agreeable society and unlimited sympathy. These things can cure a bad case of nerves in from forty to sixty years. Owing to the remedy, nerves are quite enjoyable, but they are very hard on other members of the family. When you see a careworn and indignant man who looks as if he would like to bite someone, but was too kind to do so, it is generally a sign that he is suffering from nerves—other people's nerves.

"Tell her to make a quick dash for the kitchen."

Supports McCrory Plan.

Editor Constitution: I notice in Wednesday's issue of your paper an article in reference to a proposed bill by Hon. C. E. McCrory, of Schley county, on publishing of school books for the state. I wish to put myself on record as most earnestly indorsing the plan proposed. The question of free books has been agitated to considerable extent, but, in my opinion, by this plan the price of school books will be cheapened to such a minimum price that it will bring them within easy reach of even the poorest and most unfortunate classes of our citizens; as stated in the article referred to, the state has been saved hundreds of dollars by pursuing this course in the publishing of its law books. The lawyers are enabled thereby to procure their books at these reduced rates; why not give our people-at-large the same showing? When this is done, there can be no sort of excuse for our school children being kept out of school for want of books.

COL. HUFF WILL APPEAL JUDGE SPEER'S DECISION

No End in Sight for Litigation Which Has Been Pending Fourteen Years.

Macon, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Judge Speer, in the United States district court today rendered his decision in the Huff litigation, which has been pending for fourteen years, but the end is not yet in sight, as notice of appeal by Col. W. A. Huff as well as by some of the creditors has already been given.

The decree of the court provides for the payment of all of the creditors with interest, awards Alexander Proudfit $3,000 for his services as former attorney for the defendant, orders the intervening creditors to pay the extra compensation of the attorneys for the original complainants, and gives Edison Huff and Mrs. Mattie Huff Jennings, two of Colonel Huff's children, each a one-seventh interest in the sale of certain property. The decree awarded a total of $82,287.42, not including the costs. The total fund in the hands of the court amounts to $94,000.

Colonel Huff's chief complaint is the awarding of the $3,000 to A. Proudfit, while the creditors are objecting to having to pay $6,849 to the attorneys who filed the original bill. It was first decreed by Judge Speer that this fee should come out of the bankrupt's estate, but the court of appeals reversed this, and now Judge Speer has decreed that the creditors themselves shall pay the money.

There is now remaining of the Huff estate some land in South Macon, known as the Armory property. It is said that if the proceedings were settled up now Colonel Huff would have a surplus fro mhis estate, but if the litigation is extended the court costs and interest will eat up the balance.

Rays of New Arc Light Shine Out So Brilliantly That Firemen Are Called

The brightness of a new arc light, combined with the natural nervousness of the fair sex, brought two fire engine companies speeding to Hill and Hunter streets, and created a mild panic at the police station about 8 o'clock last night.

A short time ago, some small boys playing ball broke the lamp on the corner. Wednesday it was replaced with a new one.

The new lamp shown with unusual brilliancy, and, when one of the women residents nearby looked out of the window and saw it for the first time, she was frightened by the glare.

Running to the telephone, she called excitedly for the fire department and informed the operator that "there was an awful fire somewhere near 319 East Hunter street."

Ten minutes later the entire vicinity swarmed with policemen, firemen and fire fighting apparatus. Someone finally explained the cause of the alarm, but it was impossible to find the name of the well-meaning but excitable person who turned it in.

Editor of "Good Words," Said to Be Hawthorne, Likes Federal Prison

If the writing of Register No. 4435, said to be Julian Hawthorne, in the May issue of "Good Words," the publication of the prisoners at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, may be taken as fair evidence, Mr. Hawthorne is finding his sojourn at the prison interesting and profitable, not to say pleasant.

Mr. Hawthorne is by profession a writer and the virile productions of his pen show him to be a man of no mean observation. That he finds ample material upon which to write at the federal prison is evidenced by the large number of excellent articles he has contributed to the current issue of "Good Words."

As to what Mr. Hawthorne thinks of his sojourn at the federal prison, the following paragraph from "Good Words" speaks for itself:

"It is worth while to have stood on the hard pan and bottom of things; for not only is it a wholesome experience which many miss, but we shall have only ourselves to blame if every subsequent step we take is not an upward one. William Stead, the famous English journalist, who fittingly closed a worthy life by heroically bidding farewell to it on the deck of the Titanic, said that a man who has not been in jail could not know what life was. Some of us might think it a knowledge that we might willingly forego; but Stead's saying was true (he was in jail himself for a year or two); and since we have been accorded the privilege, we may as well make the best of it."

BLACK ELUDING POSSE.

Hounds Trail Slayer Into the Coosawhatchie Swamp.

Allendale, S. C., May 1.—After outwitting and eluding bands of armed men and bloodhounds all day, firing on one party which attempted to stop him in a public road about 2 o'clock this morning and escaping, being once driven beyond the state border into Georgia and later being forced to cross back into South Carolina, Richard Henry Austin, the negro who killed two men and wounded four in Hampton county last night, was pushed back by his pursuers into Coosawhatchie swamp, not a great distance from Barton, late this afternoon and early tonight the dogs have taken the trail and the negro is believed to have been located at 8 o'clock tonight. At that time it was the general opinion of the 200-odd men in the party that he would soon be captured.

Whenever and however Austin is taken, in the event he should be captured, there is no question now what the disposition will be. Nothing could prevent a lynching, and from the temperament of the crowd it is not to be unexpected that fire will play its part.

One small posse of eight men trailed the negro toward the Savannah river swamp and about 2 o'clock this afternoon 5 miles from the Savannah river they left their automobile on account of a puncture and were walking along the roadway, when their attention was attracted by some one running through the undergrowth in the woods. They stepped to one side of the road and as Austin came out ordered him to stop. Instead he paused but a moment, opened fire on the posse and turned back into the woods. The fire was returned, and while blood on the ground indicated that Austin had been hit, he was not seriously wounded.

DOES HUMAN SLAVERY EXIST IN PHILIPPINES?

Washington, May 1.—Whether human slavery exists in the Philippines is a question asked today by the senate of Secretary Garrison.

Senator Borah read a letter from Secretary Dean C. Worcestor, of the Philippine government, saying slavery did exist in Manila, but that the Philippine assembly had declined to pass remedial legislation.

CARNEGIE IS ATTACKED BY THE LABOR UNIONS

Alleged He Is Financing British Peace Mission to the United States.

London, May 1.—An extremely hostile attitude toward the British delegation now on the voyage to the United States to arrange for the Anglo-American peace centenary, has been taken by a section of British workingmen. At their head is Ben Tillett, secretary of the Dock Workers' union. An appeal, sent by cable on their behalf today, to Samuel Gompers, is as follows:

"British workers appeal to the American trades unions not to mask the Carnegie peace delegates' mission to America. They hope America will not support the suggestion that she should assist England in making war against Germany.

"BEN TILLETT."

The subject was brought up by Ben Tillett at a labor meeting in Hyde park this afternoon. He uttered strong injectives against Lord Weardale and other members of the peace mission to the United States, as well as against Andrew Carnegie. These met with frantic approbation. He said:

"There never was a more mischievous or corrupt mission sent from this country. It is financed by Carnegie gold, which comes from the sanguinary hands of a man who crucified labor at Homestead. The whole population of the British Isles is anti-German, but I stand up for my German comrades and I demand that the comrades of our movement shall resent the selfish conspiracy of these so-called patriots—the Krupps of Germany and the battleship makers of this country—to foment war and all the horrors which arise from the blood-lust of capitalists.

Wilson Shows Clemency.

Washington, May 1.—D. F. Van Horn, father of a family of dependent children, who received what is now declared to have been an excessive sentence for removing distilled spirits without paying the federal tax, was ordered released today by President Wilson. The prisoner, convicted at Statesville, N. C., was sentenced to two years and to pay a fine of $500. He has served a year and paid the fine. The trial judge said he imposed two years under the belief that Van Horn would not be able to pay a fine.

Upon verification and approval by the Insurance Department of the State of Georgia, of its detailed statement of assets and liabilities, The Cosmopolitan Life Insurance Company, of Atlanta, has been granted license of date May 1, 1913, and has already actively entered the field.

TO WELD THE AMERICAS BY THE GOLDEN RULE

San Francisco, May 1.—Secretary of State Bryan turned from Tokio to Rio de Janeiro last night. At the close of a banquet given in his honor by the directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition, he suddenly launched into a glorification of the golden rule as applied to the republics of South America. "I glory," he said, "that we now have an administration which will bring home to the republics of South America our sense of national honor and which will weld them into one abandonment of dollar diplomacy.

"If you people will give to South America a demonstration of American ideals and unselfishness the United States will give dollars in service for your dollars in goods. There is no limit to the possible expansion of the golden rule between South and North America.

"The canal zone should be the center of American activities for two continents, a center of peace and universality where which should promulgate the expansion of peace and justice."

FULL CREW RAIL LAW IN EFFECT IN JERSEY

Newark, N. J., May 1.—The so-called full crew bill, which was opposed so bitterly by the railroads, went into effect throughout the state today. The law provides that crews of freight trains of less than thirty cars shall consist of five men and of more than thirty cars of six men. On passenger trains of not more than three cars, the crew must consist of five men and on four or more cars of six men.

All the railroads affected are planning to join in concerted action to test the constitutionality of the law, possibly by inviting prosecution under the penalty imposing $100 fine for its violation.

HIGHER PAY REFUSED TO THE CONDUCTORS

New York, May 1.—The conference committee of managers of eastern railroads declined today to grant requests made by their conductors and trainment for higher wages. The committee in a reply sent to the order of Railway Conductors and Brotherhood of Railroad Men says that the present rates of wages are liberal and in many cases excessive and that the request for an increase is considered by the interests of owners of railroad securities, in the interests of all railroad employees—in the interests of the public as a whole."

NOMADS GET TOGETHER TO BURY THEIR DEAD

Nashville, Tenn., May 1.—Today is burial day for a clan of nomads whose members travel far and wide over the south trading horses. Large numbers of the band have arrived from Florida, Georgia and today's ceremony. The body of John Sherlock, for years a leader of the clan, is the only one to be buried today. Sherlock died several months ago near Atlanta and his body has been in a vault here since awaiting the coming of burial day for interment. The custom of having a fixed burial day is for the convenience of the nomads.

BISHOP OF HONOLULU FIGHTS FREE SUGAR

Washington, May 1.—Placing sugar on the free list would result in the turning of the Hawaiian islands over to the Japanese, said Senator Works had read in the senate today from the Episcopal bishop of Honolulu.

"It would drive nine-tenths of the white population other than the troops from the island and leave it in the hands of the Japanese, who might be able to exist on the reduced profits from wor kon sugar plantations," said the writer.

VERDICT IS DIRECTED AGAINST W. R. HEARST

New York, May 1.—In order that a higher ruling may be obtained, Justice Erlanger in the state supreme court today directed the jury to return a verdict for the plaintiff for the full amount in the city's suit against William R. Hearst for $20,000 damages, paid by the city for the death of a policeman killed in a fireworks explosion ten years ago. The case will hot be carried to the appelate division and the court of appeals.

The city claims that a Hearst political organization was handling the fireworks, and should therefore pay the damages.

GEORGIA POSTMASTERS NOMINATED BY WILSON

Names of Persons Selected for Eight Towns Are Sent to the Senate.

Washington, May 1.—One hundred and fifty postoffice nominations were sent to the senate by President Wilson today and among the number were Georgia officers as follows:

W. F. Brown, Carrollton, vice Claude E. Smith; Henry M. Miller, Colquitt, reappointment; Charles V. Clark, Louisville, vice Lewis R. Farmer; Andrew J. I. Irwin, Sandersville, vice Samuel B. Robinson; Mattie E. Gunter, Social Circle, reappointment; B. F. Baker, Woodbury, vice Mary E. Hinton; Samuel B. Lewis, Fayetteville, vice J. W. Kitchens; J. M. Wright, at Screven, Wayne county, vice J. H. Walker, resigned.

The Carrollton and Woodbury postmasters were nominated by Congressman Adamson in the fourth district; Carrollton is the home town of Judge Adamson. The Louisville and Sandersville offices were filled on the recommendation of Congressman Hardwick, Sandersville being Mr. Hardwick's home. The reappointment at Colquitt was recommended by Congressman Roddenbery, of the second, and the reappointment of Miss Gunter at Social Circle was the recommendation of Congressman Tribble, of the eighth district.

The Fayetteville place was recommended by Congressman Hartlett.

The salaries of these offices are indicated as follows:

Carrollton, $2,200; Colquitt, 1,400; Louisville, $1,500; Sandersville, $1,900; Social Circle, $1,400; Woodbury, $1,200; Fayetteville, $1,000.

Under Postmaster General Burleson, all of these postmasters will be required to devote at least eight hours a day to the duties of their offices, which precluded the possibility of their engaging in another business.

The largest number of postoffice nominations for a single state were for Iowa. Nineteen postoffices in this state were filled. It is stated that several weeks ago a number of Iowans were held up by the president, because it came to his knowledge that most of the men nominated were not progressive democrats. These names had been sent in at the suggestion of National Committeeman Martin Wade, who was a Clark man in the pre-convention fight.

Congressman Adamson today recommended to the postoffice department the appointment of Merritt L. Moore as postmaster at Bowdon, Carroll county, vice J. J. Walker, republican.

The senate confirmed two Georgia postoffice appointments today. They were: D. P. Phillips, Lithonia, and William B. McCants, at Winder.

BANKS ARE CLAMORING FOR FEDERAL FUNDS

Washington, May 1.—Numerous appeals from national banks for a share in the additional $10,000,000 of government funds, which soon will be deposited by the treasury department, were received today by Secretary McAdoo. Some of them wanted as much as a half million dollars. Within a few days the treasury department will formally advise the banks of the plan to charge 2 per cent. interest on government deposits, and will then make arrangements to distribute the $10,000,000.

In a statement today, replying to inquiries, Secretary McAdoo said that if the banks had been required to pay 2 per cent. interest on their average government balances during the past sixteen years, the treasury would have been enriched by $30,610,381. He added that the largest amount of government money on deposit with the national banks at any one time during the past sixteen years was in December, 1907, when the total reached $259,954,000.

Collector at St. Mary's.

Washington, May 1.—(Special.)—Representative Walker, of Georgia, today called on Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to urge the appointment of S. C. Townsend as collector of the port of St. Marys, Ga. Owing to the possibility that St. Marys would be abandoned as a collection port in a few months in accordance with the plan of reorganization of the collection service, Mr. Walker had feared the possibility of Townsend's nomination being held up. Secretary McAdoo, however, assured him the nomination will be sent in within a few days.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES WANTED BY RAILROADS

Commerce Commission Asked to Allow 5 Per Cent Increase. Roads Need Money.

New York, May 1.—Railroads of the eastern territory having discussed the freight rate problem have decided to ask the interstate commerce commission to allow a 5 per cent increase on freight of all character. This was made known today in a statement issued by President Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Mr. Willard is the head of a committee of railway presidents representing the principal lines in what is known as the official classification territory—east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river. The request to the interstate commerce commission will be made in the form of an application to reopen the eastern advance rate case, heard and passed by the commission in 1910.

"When the matter of increase in rates of freight was considered three years ago," says Mr. Willard's statement, "it was proposed by the railroads to increase generally the so-called class rates and some of the commodity rates. It was urged by those opposed to the suggested advances that a fairer and better way to obtain an increase, if necessary, would be by a small advance on all rates instead of the larger advance, as was proposed, of some of the rates, and it has been very clearly brought out that the relation of rates between localities is of much greater importance to the shipping public than the actual rate per se.

"With this in mind, the carriers now hope to obtain the consent of the commission for an advance of 5 per cent on freight of all character, and it is believed that such an advance, if granted, will create little, if any, disturbance in commercial conditions.

"Unless the carriers are enabled to increase their revenue in some manner and the plan above proposed seems likely to meet with less opposition than any other, their ability—already limited—to provide such additional equipment and facilities as will be necessary to take care of the growing demands of the country will be very seriously impaired."

DR. CHARLES P. NEILL CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Washington, May 1.—The senate late today confirmed the nomination of Charles P. Neill as commissioner of labor statistics; J. F. A. Strong, of Juneau, as governor of Alaska, and H. M. Smith as commissioner of fisheries.

The expected opposition to Dr. Neill did not develop much strength, Senator Overman confining himself to a statement of his objections, but refusing to resort to filibuster tactics. Nearly two hours were spent in a discussion of the reported policy of Secretary McAdoo to make changes in the customs service and replace incumbents with men "more in sympathy with the administration."

Senator Penrose wanted an investigation of the case of Chester W. Hill, collector of the port of Philadelphia, who was asked to resign so that a man more in sympathy with the administration could be given his job. Republicans were anxious to know what being in sympathy meant and whether or not William H. Berry, nominated by President Wilson for the post, was sent as a political position. A resolution to investigate Hill's resignation failed, with a quorum not present, and adjournment was taken with this particular question still unsettled. Berry was not confirmed.

TRIAL DIVORCE FAILED; WIFE WEDDED ANOTHER

Leavenworth, Kans., May 1.—What was intended to be a "trial divorce," but which did not work out according to his plans because the divorced wife married another man, was revealed in a petition filed in the district court here today.

E. A. Kelley, cashier of the Army National bank at Fort Leavenworth, asks that the divorce granted to Mrs. Cora Kelley be set aside and her marriage to Lieutenant Colonel Benjamin F. Cheever, retired, be annulled.

He also asks that his former wife be compelled to repay him $4,068 paid to her as alimony and otherwise.

Mr. Kelley's petition is an answer to the petition of his wife, who sought to compel him to continue the payment of alimony. Kelley charges his wife obtained the divorce through fraud; that he was induced to make no defense because of false statements of his wife to him.

Mrs. Kelley was granted a divorce about a year ago. A few weeks ago she was married to Colonel Cheever. They are now living in Evanston, Ill.

UNDERWOOD'S FRIEND NAMED CHIEF JUSTICE

President Wilson Selects E. K. Campbell, of Birmingham, to Head Claims Court.

Washington, May 1.—Edward K. Campbell, a lawyer of Birmingham, Ala., was nominated today by President Wilson to be chief justice of the United States court of claims to succeed the late Justice Stanton J. Peelle. Mr. Campbell, who is a native of Washington county, Virginia, has been a lifelong friend of Representative Underwood and identified with all of the Underwood political campaigns. He headed the Underwood marching club at the national convention last year.

When the name of Mr. Campbell was first mentioned in connection with the appointment, Alabama democrats here pointed out that he opposed instructing the Alabama delegation to vote for Wilson in the event Underwood could not be nominated. Until today it had been generally understood that he was to be an associate justice of the court and that one of the present members would be elevated to the chief justiceship.

Mr. Campbell's daughter recently married Representative Underwood's son and the families have long been intimate.

There were a number of applicants for the position on the court of claims, which pays $8,000 a year, among them being Judge A. W. Fite, of Georgia.

Other nominations by President Wilson today included:

Commissioner of Corporations—Joseph E. Davies, of Wisconsin.

Assistant Comptroller of the Treasury—Walter W. Warwick, of Ohio.

Collector of Customs, for District of Jacksonville, Fla.—John W. Martin.

Surveyor of Customs, for port of Louisville, Ky.—Warner S. Kinkaid.

United States Marshall, district of New Mexico—Andrew H. Hudspeth.

Receiver of Public Moneys, at Leadville, Colo.—Mrs. Annie G. Rogers, of Colorado.

GOULEY IS RELEASED UNDER BOND OF $5,000

Augusta, Ga., May 1.—A. J. Gouley, the aged Augustan, who was arrested in Baltimore on the charge of embezzlement in connection with the George H. Kernaghan estate, of which he was trustee, was brought back today by Deputy Sheriff Whittle, who went to Maryland for him. Gouley was released on a bond of $5,000 almost immediately after his arrival. Six of his friends stood his bond.

Moved by Strike Vote.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 1.—In answer to a strike vote taken by telegraph operators on the Erie railroad last week, the road today tendered a 5 to 8 per cent increase to operators receiving less than $60 a month. "We can't give more," said H. O. Dunkle, general superintendent, "because of our heavy losses in the recent flood." The operators still stand firm for a 12 per cent increase. Twenty-five per cent of them are affected by the new increase.

Director Weed Resigns.

Washington, May 1.—Theodore L. Weed, director of the postal savings system since its establishment, presented to Postmaster General Burleson today his resignation, effective June 30. Mr. Weed will engage in business in New York.

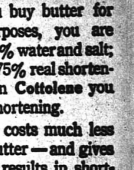
Butter contains water and salt

Cottolene

is 100% shortening

When you buy butter for cooking purposes, you are paying for 25% water and salt; you get but 75% real shortening value. In Cottolene you get 100% shortening.

Cottolene costs much less than good butter—and gives just as good results in shortening and frying. Cottolene is as cheap or cheaper than lard—gives better results—and is absolutely healthful, which is more than can be said of lard.



Cottolene is economical, because one-third less is required than of either butter or lard.

BROTHER HURRIES FROM THE WEST

To See Sister, Thinking She Would Die, But He Helped Her to Recovery.

Nashville, Tenn.—"I was passing through the critical stage of life," writes Mrs. Kate E. Weaver, of 1715 Cockrill Street, this city, "and for three years and nine months, to the day, I was in a serious condition. I could not walk alone across the floor, I was so weak.

My brother came from Dallas, Texas, to see me, thinking I was going to die. But he gave me the money to buy six bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I began to improve with the second bottle. The six bottles made me well, strong and hearty.

Since getting well I have been to see my brother in Dallas.

Have talked to several of my lady friends, and now they are taking Cardui—my daughter for one, and it is helping her. She is 27 years old, and I am nearly 51. Cardui helped us all.

I certainly do not know how to praise Cardui high enough. You may publish this letter if you wish, for Cardui certainly saved my life, and I cannot say too much for it.

I shall always recommend your wonderful medicine."

Cardui is good for young and old. It costs but little to try, and may mean so much to you.

AMERICAN RECOGNITION FOR CHINESE REPUBLIC

It Will Be Formally Extended Today—Chinese Assembly Is Organized.

Peking, May 1.—The United States will recognize the republic of China tomorrow. The Chinese government will testify to its appreciation by an elaborate reception and luncheon to the legation staff at the winter palace.

Washington, May 1.—Before Secretary Bryan left Washington for California he announced that Charge Williams, at Peking, had been instructed to extend formal recognition to the new republic of China as soon as the constituent assembly had been properly organized in all its branches and provision made for the election of administrative officers.

At that time it was expected that these preliminaries would occupy only a few days, but party divisions sprang up in the lower branch of the legislature, which resulted in deferring until yesterday the completion of the work or organization. Now, however, with the election of Tang Hue Lung as speaker of the house, organization is perfected in both branches, the senate already having organized. The American charge, therefore, now will be able to carry out his instructions from Secretary Bryan, and America will be the first of the great powers to extend recognition to the infant republic.

It is expected that after this recognition a new minister to China, accredited to the republic, will be designated to succeed Mr. Calhoun, who is now on his way home. Mr. Chang, the resident minister of China, probably soon will receive credentials from Yuan Shi Kai, the provisional president of China, in place of the credentials issued to him by the late Manchu government.

In Old Time May Festival School Children Make Merry

There was a May day fete at the Forrest avenue school yesterday and as it was the first time in many years that a real old-time May day festival has been held in Atlanta, the occasion was not only of immense pleasure to the little ones, but of great interest to the grown-ups who were present.

Many years ago the first of May was celebrated throughout the country, and the spirit of the season was manifest in Atlanta, but of recent years the custom has been discontinued.

The children of the Forrest avenue school decided to have a May day festival, and it was agreed that the little tots of the first grade and second grade were the right people to carry out the program. There were so many very beautiful tots that the selection of a May queen became too difficult, and so they all became "little queens."

Every child held in her arms a doll, a very lovely doll, and the singing of the "Doll song" was the most pleasing number on the program.

On the day before the first of May the children made baskets which they filled with gorgeous flowers of every description and which lent a "halo of glory" to the May day scene.

As The Constitution has a "regular correspondent" at the Forrest avenue school who writes letters each week for the Sunday school page, Miss Boutwell Hudgins, she was requested to write about the May day festival, and her story is told below:

"On Thursday a most beautiful program was rendered by the pupils of the first and second grades celebrating May day.

"On the previous day the pupils made the beautiful May baskets, which they filled with gorgeous flowers of every description on the morning of the entertainment.

"The pupils marched into their class room with baskets overloaded with flowers. On each little head was a flower wreath, and all were dressed in white.

Songs By Children.

"Upon entering their room they sang several sweet and appropriate songs. The next interesting event was when the little girls sang the doll song, and also explained how they rocked them to sleep, scolded them and how they attended to them in general. The boys' part had militant caste, and they sang their "Soldier Boy" song with flags waving and drums beating, much to the delight of the roomful of guests. After a few more songs they adjourned to the auditorium for the final event, which was a pretty drill, and a little dance concluded the exercises."

Polk Memorial Unveiled.

Nashville, Tenn., May 1.—A memorial tablet marking the site of the home of President James Knox Polk was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies here today. The tablet was the gift of Cumberland chapter, D. A. R., to the city of Nashville, and was accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor Howse. An original poem by Mrs. Elisabeth Frye Page was read. The former site of the Polk home, in its day one of the show places of Nashville, is now occupied by the largest apartment house in the city named in honor of the ex-president.

POWERS HESITATING ABOUT MONTENEGRO

No Immediate Steps Will Be Taken to Coerce Little Kingdom.

London, May 1.—The powers will not take steps to coerce Montenegro for the present. The ambassadors at their meeting this afternoon came to the conclusion that in view of the conciliatory attitude shown by Montenegro, it was unnecessary to proceed with immediate measures of coercion.

The moderate tone of Montenegro's reply to the powers has cleared much of the electricity out of the diplomatic atmosphere.

The impression derived from the Montenegrin note is that King Nicholas is waiting for the "compensation" which is to be offered him to quit Scutari.

The little kingdom tells its big neighbors that it has the greatest deference for them, and declares the capture of Scutari to be in no way a defiance of their announced decision to give the former Turkish fortress to Albania.

At the same time Montenegro suggests that there is room for discussion, and reserves the right of bringing up the question of Scutari in the course of the peace negotiations.

Russia Warns Montenegro.

Cettinje, Montenegro, May 1.—The Russian minister to Montenegro presented a curt note to the government today, urging immediate compliance by Montenegro with the demands of the European powers for the evacuation of Scutari and intimating that a policy of defiance was likely to lead to the ruin of Montenegro.

It puts new go in griddle cakes, makes muffins taste like more and places a plate of biscuits into a little world of its own. Good? Yes, ma'am, great—and its use brings the high cost of living down. Goes twice as far as butter on bread, and costs only a fourth as much. Never was, and never will be, any syrup as good as

CHANGED BATTING ORDER TURNS TRICK

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

Gilbert Price checked the Crackers' downward career Thursday, aided and abetted by Rivington Bisland, the new Cracker infielder. Their combined work turned the trick.

WHIFFS

Going Great.

GILBERT PRICE, the Crackers' big southpaw, is going at a great clip these days. He has won five games and lost but one. The Crackers had him only on trial. Guess his trial has proven successful. He won four games and lost one last season, making nine victories and two defeats since he joined the club. Manager Bill Smith will probably mail Clark Griffith his check for this player at once.

Looks the Goods.

BISLAND, the new infielder, looks great. His debut Thursday was all that could be desired. Although he made an error he handled his other chances in brilliant style and crashed out two hits, one a triple. Both drove in a run, and he tallied one himself. If he keeps up that clip, the team is made.

Stop Them.

SALLY league clubs are yelling help. Perry Lipe's Savannah Indians are cutting a wide swath in the pennant race. The club has won the last eight games it has played.

Splendid Spirit.

HARRY BAILEY, the demon pinch hitter of the Crackers, is certainly showing great spirit. Harry is rankling under his inactivity and is doing everything in his power to mend his injured pedal extremity and get into harness once more. He has been working on the foot hourly and it is answering to the treatment rapidly. Most ball players would be glad to loaf and draw their pay, but not Shawnee Bill. He would rather play any day than loaf, in loyalty to his team.

A Fine Suggestion.

BARNEY SHERIDAN, our contemporary on The Mobile Register, has a well-timed suggestion. Barney takes a shot at the umpires in this league by calling them by not announcing the batteries, chances are, to the bleach-ers fans. The announcements on the local field have all been made to the grand stand fans. The real fan is the man who bakes in the sun for three hours. The sooner the umpires switch their tactics in this case the more friends they will make among the bleacher gods.

o-u-i-u-p.

JOE TINKER has been squashed. "They'll only send you around to umpire for bum ball clubs all season," was his reward to Umpire Guthrie after their run in last week. "Then I'll see you, little one, every single day, won't I?" came back Guthrie. Ouch!

Also Assistance.

LARRY MLEAN was having a fanning bee the other day and was telling how generous the Cardinal fans could be. "Why," said Larry, "they handed me a swell set of razors; once each day in the week. What do you think of that?" Measuring his distance to the door, Bob Beacher sallied, "Maybe they want to give you all the time in the world to cut your throat."

Needs Shortstop.

FRANK CHANCE needs a shortstop worse than anything else, or at least that's the way it appears. "I'd give $10,000 to have Joe Tinker on my club." Chance is quoted as saying recently. Maybe there are others that would do the same thing. But if the Reds occupy their present position much longer, Herrmann might be induced to sell his manager for the price of a beer. That's the way they do things in Cincinnati.

Larger Park.

SO POPULAR are Charley Comiskey's White Sox that the enlarged stands that greeted the south side fans this season have proved inadequate. The old man is planning another extension. When completed the White Sox field will accommodate 45,000 comfortably.

After Twirler.

BOB BAUGH, president of the Birmingham club, and "Alibi" Hirsig, president of the Nashville Vols, are in Cincinnati scouting for pitchers. It will not be long before President Callaway of the local club, joins the duo on a scouting tour, but his visit will most likely be eastward, not westward.

With Federals.

HARRY MATTHEWS, former Cracker catcher, has been offered the management of the Lynchburg club, of the Federal league, at a salary that is said to far exceed any offer that Harry could get anywhere in minor league ball. The big backstop will probably take the position.

Unpopular Parodies.

(N. B.—There are two ways to pronounce "row.")

Then he would row, row, row,
Right with the umpire;
He would row, row, row, row, row,
He'd bawl him now and then,
And tell him where and when.
He'd fool around and snarl around,
And then he'd bawl again.
And always row, row, row!
At the judge of playing
He would row, row, row, row, row,
Great snakes! how he'd pan.
And Bingo! the case is won
Because he'd row, row, row!

Price Pitches In Pinches; Bisland and Alpermann Have Big Day With Stick

By Hugh W. Roberts.

Birmingham, Ala., May 1.—(Special.) "High" Price, in the pinches, was almost impossible this afternoon, and the proud Barons were humbled in a long, weird, ragged and otherwise listless game.

The Atlanta southpaw, as indicated, was strong in the great majority of the innings, but it is probable that but for the Cracker bats, the Cracker heaver would have lost his luster. Sloan, for the Barons, was lacking throughout, although in the second inning he wormed out of a serious predicament.

The score was 7 to 4.

As the Barons had Wednesday afternoon, this afternoon the Crackers had one big inning. It was in the sixth, with the score standing 2 to 1 against them. When it concluded they had the game safely iced away.

Wallop Starts by Round.

Smith opened with a slow hit which he beat out. Bisland followed with a triple to deep right center, counting Smith. Graham's sacrifice fly sent Bisland over. The score was then tied with one down and no one on base.

It looked easy but Dunn rolled one to Slam and the local blonde heaved the ball badly to first. Price filed to center. Long then beat out a short one, and Agler shot a screaming triple through McBride, Dunn and Long counting. Alpermann chipped in with his third hit of the afternoon and Agler registered.

Sloan was here relieved of his burden and Prough mounted the mound. On his first effort Welchonce went out to Elam on McGilvray.

The Crackers scored in the second. Welchonce opened with a double. Smith put him down and Bisland's hit sent third scored him.

The Barons showed form in the fourth. McGilvray opened with a hit, but Carroll forced him at second. Elam filed out to right and Williams dropped the ball. Mayer beat out a slow one which filled the bases.

Price Goes Wild.

Sloan drew a walk which forced Carroll across the rubber. Marcan forced Sloan at second, but on the play Elliam scored, Mayer scored on the double steal before Herndon fanned.

In the seventh the Crackers added another for good measure. Smith singled as a beginning and stole. He advanced to third on an error and scored as Prough was throwing Graham out at first. In the eighth the Barons scored their fourth run on McGilvray's double and Carroll's single.

The Barons lost their finest opportunity to win the game in the first round. Marcan drew a walk and was sacrificed. He endeavored to steal third. He went out, Bodus th. grew a pass and McBride doubled to right. No runs resulted. McGilvray screamed out on a line to left.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 1.—Fleharty was steady in the pinches today and Nashville shut Chattanooga out. A batting fusillade in the second, including a homer by Noyes with two on and a triple by Goalby sent Chappele to the bench and Troy, who succeeded him, was easy. The locals fielded raggedly.

New Orleans, May 1.—The locals put up a miserable exhibition and were beaten by Memphis again today, 7 to 1. Gwin pitched good ball until his support crumbled in the fifth. Swindell pitched the ninth inning and opened by giving three bases on balls. Harrell was a puzzle, and New Orleans was helpless, in spite of loose fielding behind the winning pitcher. Snell retired in the first inning on account of a broken finger.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—Mobile won a strenuous twelve-inning pitching battle this afternoon from Montgomery, score 2 to 1. E. Brown pitched great ball for ten innings, but retired in favor of Paige on account of illness, Dave Robertson broke up the game with a drive over the right field fence with one out in the twelfth, sending Black home from second. Hogg registered his fifth straight victory of the season and pitched remarkable ball in the pinches, striking out ten batsmen, the majority of them with runners in scoring position. Twice Montgomery had the bases full with one out, but Hogg each time struck out Tarleton and Donahue. Donahue was put out of the game for protesting a decision on a called third strike in tenth.

MERCER ERRORS LOSE BALL GAME

Baptists Make Ten Bobbles and Vanderbilt Wins First Game 6 to 5—Hunt Pitches Well.

Macon, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Sure, Mercer lost the game, Vandy didn't win it, but the Baptists have no one to blame but themselves because they simply served it upon a silver platter to the Commodores.

Hunt, for Mercer, pitched a splendid game, giving up only six scattered hits, but he had no support. The Baptists made ten bad errors.

Latimore pitched good ball at times, but in the fourth and fifth went entirely up.

Vandy started scoring in the second. Robbins went to third on two errors and came home on Brown's single.

In the fourth, with one man down, Billy Grace stole second. On Gibson's hit Grace stole second. On Gibson's hit Hunt scored and Grace made another tally on Roddenberry's hit. Gibson scored on Farmer's neat sacrifice.

In the fifth, Wills walked, and, when Irwin grounded, reached second on Robbins' error, but was caught at third on Hunt's grounder. On Gibson's long hit, Irwin and Hunt both tallied. Score, 5 to 1 in Mercer's favor.

In the sixth, with two men down, Morrison and Eyers scored on Sam's muff, Grace's error, Roddenberry's error and Irwin's passed ball.

In the seventh, Lyle scored on Irwin's bad pass to second.

In the eighth, after O. Turner's two-base hit, Vandy worked the squeeze play for two more runs.

In both the eighth and ninth, Mercer got a man as far as third, but was unable to tally. Score:

Chicago, May 1.—George Johnson, the big Indian twirler of the Cincinnati "Reds," had everything his own way today and Cincinnati defeated Chicago 8 to 4. Today's victory is the third of the season for Cincinnati and the honor of winning fell to Johnson on all three. Johnson had the locals baffled until the ninth inning when he showed signs of weakening and gave way to Mordecai Brown, former pitched of the Chicago Nationals. Brown, with the bases full and one out in this inning, showed his old-time skill and retired Chicago without further damage. Toney injured his finger in trying to stop a hot bounder off Hoblitzell's bat and retired. Eyers said the injury was not serious. Three of the runs scored by the locals were due to the errors of Cincinnati.

Philadelphia, May 1.—Alexander, who last week pitched an eleven-inning scoreless tie against New York, shut out McGraw's team here this afternoon 1 to 0. The visitors secured six hits, three of which were made by Shafer and two by Snodgrass. Only one New York runner reached third base. Kliffer threw two men out trying to steal second and broke up a batting rally in the third inning by catching Snodgrass napping off second base. Four hits were made off Tesreau in seven innings, he being taken out for pinch hitter McCormick in bat for him. Knabe and Doolan divided those attempts. The only run of the game was scored in the sixth inning on Shafer's wild throw on Alexander's grounder and Knabe's two bagger.

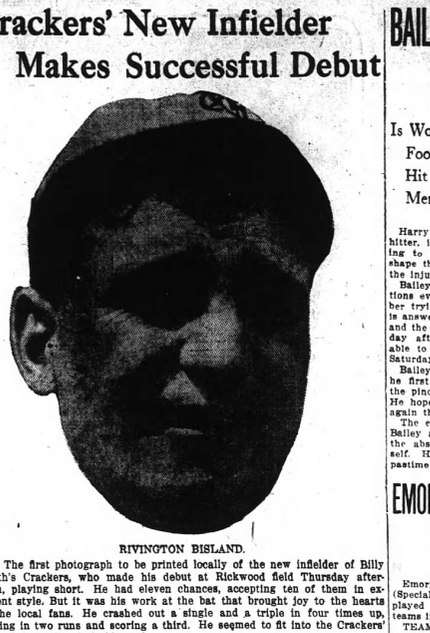
Crackers' New Infielder Makes Successful Debut



RIVINGTON BISLAND.

The first photograph to be printed locally of the new infielder of Billy Smith's Crackers, who made his debut at Rickwood field Thursday afternoon, playing short. He had eleven chances, accepting ten of them in excellent style. But it was his work at the bat that brought joy to the hearts of the local fans. He crashed out a single and a triple in four times up, driving in two runs and scoring a third. He seemed to fit into the Crackers' inner defense in admirable style.

LUTE M'CARTY SHOCKS GOTHAM BY DRESS

New York, May 1.—Luther McCarty, who outfought Frank Moran in a bout at the St. Nicholas Athletic club last night, attempted to set a new fashion for street clothes at a Broadway hotel by appearing in his bath robe and fighting toga.

The management and patrons were surprised when McCarty appeared in the lobbies thus arrayed on his way to the club and when he returned at midnight in the same fashion with a crowd of 2,000 yelling admirers at his heels, he and his chief handler, Joe Jeanette, were requested to give up their suits and leave the hotel. They did so.

AMERICAN.

Athletics 4, Yanks 2.

New York, May 1.—The New York Americans were defeated again today, the Athletics winning the first game of a four-game series 4 to 2. Keating, the only New York pitcher who has won a game this season, went well for five innings, not a man reaching first base until McInis singled in that frame. In the sixth the Athletics won the game, when they scored three runs on singles by Brown, Oldring and Collins, Oldring's steal and three errors. Brown pitched well for Philadelphia, the first of New York's two runs being scored on errors by Baker and Collins. Brown had to retire from the game in the eighth inning when he injured his pitching hand stopping a hard drive from Cree's bat.

White Sox 8, Tigers 5.

Detroit, May 1.—Harry Lord, ably assisted by the other members of the "heavy" end of Chicago's batting order, pounded Mullin to every corner of the lot today and the visitors defeated Detroit 8 to 5. Jennings' men hit Russell hard in the fifth and eighth and the Chicago southpaw became unsteady in the ninth, but sharp fielding cut off each Detroit rally. It was a fourth straight defeat for the locals and five of them were sustained at the hands of Chicago.

Chicago . . . . 200 001 500—8 12 1
Detroit . . . . 100 020 020—5 10 3

Naps 3, Browns 1.

St. Louis, May 1.—Joe Wellman's wildness in the sixth inning today caused his own downfall and Cleveland won 3 to 1. Falkenberg was steady in pinches, holding St. Louis safe when runners were on base. In the sixth three infield hits filled the bases for Cleveland with one out. Wellman then lost control and walked Birmingham and hit Cravath, forcing in two runs for Cleveland.

Score: R. H. E.

Boston, May 1.—Boston easily defeated Washington today, 8 to 2. O'Brien kept the visitors' hits well separated. Four pitchers were used by Washington, Hughes lasting but four innings, during which time Boston scored four runs. Engle captured a liner from Ainsworth's bat in the second inning and doubled up Morgan, who had reached first on a single. Captain Wagner injured one of his fingers in taking a throw at second and will be out of the game for several days.

PELICANS TAKE JAMES FROM THE VOLUNTEERS

Nashville, Tenn., May 1.—By selling outfielder Jesse James to New Orleans today at the waiver price Manager Schwartz cut his team down to 17 men and now will be the salary limit. The present players will be carried for some day but it is expected that two more pitchers will be released in the near future.

BUCK BECKER BUYS RELEASE FROM CLUB

Big Southpaw Is Now a Free Agent and Club Is Inside the Players' Limit.

Charles "Buck" Becker, the big southpaw of the Crackers, who was placed on the ineligible list by Manager Smith Tuesday, purchased his release from the club Thursday morning and is now a free agent.

Becker is undecided as to his plans, but will probably secure a hurling job with some minor league club in the near future.

BAILEY MAY JOIN CLUB SATURDAY

Is Working Hard on Injured Foot—He Will Do Pinch Hit Duty Until the Prop Mends.

Harry Bailey, the Crackers' clean-up hitter, is working like a Trojan trying to get his injured foot in such shape that he can bear his weight on the injured member.

Bailey has been using hot applications every hour on the injured member trying to reduce the swelling. It is answering slightly to the treatment, and the speedy outfielder stated Thursday afternoon that he hoped to be able to join the club in Birmingham Saturday.

Bailey will not play regularly when he first joins the club, but will fill the pinch hitting role for a few days. He hopes to get around by the first part of next week.

The entire club mourns the loss of Bailey at this time, but no one feels the absence more than Bailey himself. He is wild to get back into the pastime again.

SEWANEE TIGERS HERE FOR SERIES

Play Tech Yellow Jackets at Grant Field Today and Saturday—Will Be Interesting Games.

The Sewanee Tigers will be the opponents of the Tech Yellow Jackets on Grant field this afternoon and on Saturday.

A meeting athletically between these two schools always attracts considerable interest, especially in baseball, and as the Crackers are now on a road trip, local baseball fans are sure to attend these games in a body.

Tech will present an entirely new line-up. With the exception of the box not a single man will start today's game that played the same position in the opening series this year with Clemson.

Besides the switches in the line-up, several new men will hold down the positions of the old varsity stars. Four of the second string have been given a berth on the varsity this week, and as a result five would-be varsity men were canned.

Ed Montague, "Scrappy" Moore, Donaldson, Pound and Fielder are the first squad candidates who are now warming seats on the scrub bench. Three of these who have made the team in past year are Montague, Pound and Fielder.

Coach Heisman cut the men from the varsity squad after their poor showing, made in the games against Alabama last week.

Too much praise cannot be given Captain Montague for his playing, said Coach Heisman. Pitts and Withrington also deserved to be given much credit for their playing, but the coach said that he could not say much for the rest of the bunch.

The line-up as given out by Coach Heisman for today's game is: Captain Montague, second base; Amason, first base; Wooten, shortstop; Clay, third base; Withrington, catcher; Eubanks, pitcher; Malone, left field; Dunwoody, center, and Pitts, right.

Lookouts Buy Pitcher.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 1.—Pitcher Joy Golden was purchased by Chattanooga tonight from the St. Louis Nationals to strengthen Elberfield's wobbly pitching staff. The question of the man who will be let go to make way for him is open laying between Moore, Chappelle and Troy.

DOBARD MAY JOIN THE BILLIKENS

New Orleans, May 1.—(Special.)—Refusing to join the Beaumont (Texas) league club, to which he was released under an optional agreement, Leo Dobard, the local shortstop whom the Crackers secured from Clarke Griffith, of the Washington club, returned to New Orleans Tuesday.

Dobard was out in a Montgomery uniform during the practice and it is probable he will become a member of "Jawn" Dobbs' Billikens, if a trade can be arranged with the Crackers. Dobbs is eager to get Dobard, and sooner than lose his claim on the player, it is believed Billy Smith will turn him over to Montgomery.

COLLEGE GAMES

G. M. C. 3, Dahlonega 1.

Milledgeville, Ga., May 1.—G. M. C. defeated Dahlonega in a mighty pretty game 3 to 1. Kid Brannen's North Georgia boys couldn't connect with Harrell, who struck out nine and has a no-hit game to his credit. Dahlonega has a good team and they hope to get revenge tomorrow. G. M. C. is tightening up as the season advances, and will be hard to down by preps.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Cordele 8, Americus 4.

Cordele, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Cordele defeated the Americus team in the opening game of the Empire State league this afternoon by the score of 8 to 4. The game was witnessed by 1170 fans. The affray opened with a bump and was full of snap and anger all through with the exception of several errors.

The wildest demonstration from the grandstand and bleachers marked the opening ceremony, when Mayor Harder tossed the first ball to Frank Bartholomew, president of the Cordele club.

Hall pitched a magnificent game until the ninth inning, when he got a little wild. Wood was batted all over the field in the likely that Americus would not have scored but for Cordele's errors in the eighth inning.

Kling With Reds.

Chicago, May 1.—Manager Joe Tinker, of the Cincinnati team, today signed John Kling, the catcher, who will report for duty at Cincinnati next Sunday.

In exchange for Kling's release, Tinker gives C. McDonald, an infielder, and a cash consideration to Boston. Amounts were not mentioned.

Schmidt Sticks.

Mobile, Ala., May 1.—Catcher Schmidt, formerly of Detroit, who was recently traded to Indianapolis for Catcher Clarke, will probably stay with the Mobile team, as Clarke has failed to report. Manager Flinn is authority for the statement that the deal is off.

COBB REINSTATED AND GIVEN FINE

Commission Censures Him for Past Act, Commends Detroit Club and Issues a Warning.

Chicago, May 1.—Tyrus Cobb today was formally reinstated in organized baseball and fined $50 by the National Baseball commission. A decision by the commission, given out in answer to the Detroit players' appeal for reinstatement, condemned Cobb severely for his actions while "holding out." The Detroit club was commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy regarding Cobb.

Notice was served on other clubs that in case of their failure to discipline players whose actions are "detrimental to the game," the commission itself will act.

The commission reserved news of any other action it may have taken, and if the proposed congressional investigation into the alleged baseball trust were discussed at all, as reported, it was ignored so far as a formal report is concerned.

The Report.

The report on the Cobb case follows:

"Player Tyrus Cobb, who avers that he was not aware that his status was affected by his failure to report at the start of its 1913 pennant race to the Detroit team, of which he has been a member for several seasons, on April 25 notified the commission that he had entered the service of that club with the request that he be declared to be in good standing.

"It appears that the player's failure to report to the Detroit club was due to inability to agree on terms with that club. Subsequently to the beginning of the American league season, however, after a brief conference with the president of his club, these differences were amicably adjusted. If the only question involved were the compensation of the player, the commission would have been inclined to pass the matter. The commission, however, cannot permit conduct of this player in the past to go unnoticed.

"Recognized as one of the greatest players of the game, with a salary as high as any in the profession, the actions on many occasions were such as not only to break down the rules of discipline, established by the club, but harmful to the game's interests. Instead of negotiating with his club on a business basis during the early spring, he issued ultimatums through the press to arouse public sentiment in his favor.

Cobb Censured.

"Without going into details the commission is informed that in the past the player has been guilty of frequent violations of essential regulations of his club. His public conduct in many instances is too well known to patrons of the game to require comment thereon by the commission, except to serve notice on him and all other players that a repetition thereof will not be permitted to go unpunished for the future, for a realization of the game's welfare is of more importance than the interests of an individual player, however great his ability.

"The Detroit club is to be commended for its recent stand and censured for its former passive policy in dealing with the player in matters of this kind, and notice is served on all clubs that in the event of failure on their part in the future, properly to discipline the player whose actions are detrimental to the game, the commission will of its own initiative take action.

"The player's reinstatement will be made permanent during good behavior on payment of a fine of $50 to the secretary of the commission.

Medals for Gettysburg Vets.

Washington, May 1.—Senator O'Gorman today introduced a bill to authorize the secretary of war to give a medal to each surviving union and confederate soldier of the battle of Gettysburg. The bill would appropriate $50,000 for the purpose.

TENNESSEE NINE PLAYS GEORGIANS

Athens, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—The University of Tennessee baseball team will be the opponents of the University of Georgia here today and Saturday in a two-game series.

If the Georgians win this series they have only the Georgia Tech team to defeat to be the undisputed southern college baseball champions.

One victory in this series will be sufficient, as the Red and Black team defeated the Tennessee lads in the one game played in Knoxville.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Brunswick 5, Waycross 1.

Brunswick, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Approximately 3,000 people saw Brunswick take the opening game of the Empire State league from Waycross this afternoon by a score of 5 to 1. The game was featured by the excellent pitching of both Cates and Vanderlip, the former getting a shade the better of it. All of Brunswick's runs came in one inning, with singles, a double and a couple of errors.

Waycross	000 001 000	1	5	6

Thomasville 14, Valdosta 12.

Valdosta, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Before 1,750 enthusiastic fans, Valdosta lost to Thomasville, 14 to 12, this afternoon. The game was replete with errors, hits and runs. It kept the fans in an uproar at all stages and was always in doubt until the last man was retired. Bierman's and Wilkes' batting were features:

Score:	R	H	E
Thomasville	14	20	7

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS PROTEST ABOUT TARIFF

Washington, May 1.—Six democratic western senators today carried their protests against the tariff bill to President Wilson. The senators were Newlands, Chamberlain, Lane, Thompson, Shafroth and Walsh. The sugar and wool schedules were principally under consideration.

As the senators left the white house they declined to discuss the conference.

It is believed that the president listened to the views of the senators instead of giving his, and will not commit himself until he has had an opportunity to confer with other leaders.

Later the president issued the following statement:

"It was not a conference to arrive at any conclusion, but merely for the purpose of effecting a frank interchange of views as to the possible effects of several schedules of the tariff upon the industries of the states represented by the senators present."

CIVIL SERVICE USED AS A SPOILS SYSTEM

Washington, May 1.—Battle for a spoils system than an abused civil service system, was the declaration of Senator Overman, of North Carolina, today on the floor of the senate, when he asked Senator Pomerene, chairman of the civil service commission, when his resolution for investigating the service would be reported upon. He read a report from President Taft's efficiency commission that the interpretation of the law by the civil service commission had been such as practically to defeat the law's object.

Senator Pomerene declared it was startling the number of republicans who had been appointed under the commission.

"That's strange when there are two militant democrats and one mild republican on the commission," said Senator Gallinger.

Senator Pomerene promised to have his resolution ready for report next week.

E. H. ROBERTS DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE

Was One of Atlanta's Highly Esteemed Citizens and Well Known Throughout South.

Edward Hubbard Roberts, 82 years old, died at his residence, 7 Baltimore place, at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. He is survived by his wife and four children, Misses Emma and Kate C. Roberts, Frederick C. Roberts, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs Carter H. Page, Jr., and one brother, Richard H. Roberts, of New York City.

The deceased was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Roberts, of Middletown, Conn. At the age of 17 he went to Astabula, Ohio, where he entered business. While there he married Miss Catherine D. L. Carlisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carlisle. In 1861 Mr. and Mrs. Roberts moved to New York, where they remained until 1870, when Mr. Roberts became a partner in the lumber firm of Simpson & Co., at Bagdad, Fla. In 1886 he came to Atlanta, going into business with the late Edwin P. May.

Six years ago Mr. and Mrs. Roberts celebrated their golden wedding, on which occasion all their children and grandchildren were present. Their wedding anniversary was on April 22, but owing to Mr. Roberts' illness the occasion was announced.

Mr. Roberts has for years been one of Atlanta's most highly esteemed citizens, and his death will be widely mourned by his many friends throughout the south. ATLANTA-MADE VIOLINS FOR OPERA MUSICIANS

Members of the Metropolitan orchestra payed a single tribute to Mayo Biddett, an Atlanta violin maker, and three of the opera artists have purchased instruments for professional use from him.

A violincello for Julius Herner, first cellist, and instruments for F. Brinkman, cellist, and Fritz Shaefer, violinist, have aroused considerable comment of members of the orchestra who admire the workmanship of these Atlanta-made violins.

Though a native of Knoxville, Tenn., Mr. Badgett has lived in Atlanta for thirteen years. He is not yet 40 years old, but has distinguished himself among the leading violin makers of the country.

He is an honorary member of the American Federation of labor.

WILSON'S DAUGHTER IN SCORCHING TAXICAB

New York, May 1.—William J. Greenwood, a taxicab chauffeur, was fined $5 today for driving Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's daughter, and her escort up Broadway at a speed of twenty-four miles an hour.

The policeman who appeared against Greenwood said that when he stopped the taxicab yesterday evening Greenwood told him that his passengers were the president's daughter and Boyd Fisher, manager of the Social Center, and that they were hurrying to a hotel to pick up a professor who had to catch a train for Princeton. The policeman let the car proceed after summoning the chauffeur to court today.

Mr. Fisher was in court today and paid Greenwood's fine.

BATTLE JUST BEGUN, SAYS GOV. SULZER

Albany, N. Y., May 1.—The battle for direct primaries has just begun. The fight will go on until the cause of the people triumphs."

This was Governor Sulzer's comment today on the defeat yesterday of his state wide direct primary bill by the senate. He said he would determine when to call an extraordinary session of the legislature to reconsider the bill after he had conferred with "friends of direct reform."

"The bill was not beaten on its merits," said the governor. "It was defeated solely by the party lash and the bipartisan caucus combination, dictated by a genius outside the capitol. When the campaign begins through the state these facts will be brought home to the voters."

PARENTAL COURT ASKED FOR THE UNITED STATES

Washington, May 1.—The parental court of the United States is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Hobson, providing that judges of the federal district courts shall exercise the jurisdiction of such a court, except in the District of Columbia, where the president would appoint a parental judge.

The court would have jurisdiction over all children 16 years old or less in all matters relating to violation of federal statutes; to supply special parental care, protection and education for all children; to keep children from any court of record; from commitment to any institution for punishment, and to fix absolute responsibility for all persons who assume any parental authority over children.

HURRYING THE WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL

Washington, May 1.—Many evidences of a determination to hurry completion of the Panama canal are seen in today's reports from the isthmus.

The nine mammoth steam shovels digging out Culebra cut have been put on twelve-hour shifts, and working at such a rate would have a channel ready for ships through the most troublesome part of the canal by the time the locks are ready.

Last official estimates of the earliest day on which ships could pass through the canal have been some time in October, but the rapid progress of the work may make it possible for ships to go through earlier.

BOY SCOUTS FIGHT FIRE IN EASTMAN SCHOOL

Eastman, May 1.—(Special.)—Fire was discovered in the roof of the High school building here yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. The fire bell was rung, and, owing to the fire drill, order was maintained. The building was vacated in about one minute. After all the students were out the local boy scouts formed a fire brigade and proved themselves worthy of Carnegie medals. Some brought buckets of water, while others fought back the flames. The fire was soon extinguished, although behind a locked door. One scout broke down the door while another fed water.

GEORGE SEAY KILLED WHILE WORKING FARM

Head Hacked by Ax, Duluth Man Dies While Being Rushed to Hospital.

Norcross, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—His head hacked with an ax, George L. Seay, a farmer, was found in a dying condition this morning on the farm of Jack Knox, near Duluth, Ga. He died before he could be rushed to a hospital.

A negro employed on the farm upon whose clothes spots of blood were found has been arrested by the sheriff.

The deceased, while an employee on Mr. Knox's place, had recently bought a farm of his own. He is survived by a wife, one child and a brother, who is with the McClure-Taylor company, at Duluth.

LIQUID IN GOLF BALL NEARLY KILLS A BOY

Wilmington Del., May 1.—Rodney Warren, a 12-year-old caddie who heard players at the Wilmington Country club discussing "high balls" yesterday, gathered the idea that the drink was in some way connected with the golf ball. He cut open one of the balls and found it filled with a liquid which he drank. A stomach pump saved his life. The doctor found the liquid in the ball was highly impregnated with arsenic.

"THE SHOP WITH A REPUTATION"

Won Its Favor Without a Flavor

When you eat a breakfast cereal you want to do your own flavoring or seasoning. That's the reason you will choose for your morning meal. It is a natural, elemental food made of the whole wheat steam-cooked, shredded and baked a crisp, golden brown. It is not flavored or treated or compounded with anything and hence keeps indefinitely in the market—the standard cereal food eaten all over the world.

For breakfast heat the Biscuit in the oven a few moments to restore crispness; then pour hot milk over it, adding a little cream; salt or sweeten to suit the taste. It is deliciously nourishing and wholesome for any meal with stewed prunes, baked apples, sliced bananas, preserved peaches, pineapple or other fruits. At your grocer's.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, May 1.—Taylor, Liverpool, became strong under a better demand from Manchester and from the small increase in the acreage of 2.8 per cent given by the Journal of Commerce. The statement that the crop was backward because the cold nights hardly agreed with the enthusiastic belief that a very large crop was practically assured, which has been so prevalent. At the opening a demand for July led to an excited advance of from 12 to 18 points and while the market subsequently reacted, the crop news and the shipping of our stock to Liverpool was enough to check much selling. In the last hour, a renewed demand closed the market firm at the highest prices. Should Europe feel that present prices are reasonable for the new crop, we will see high prices, as the local short interest in both old and new crops cannot be covered in a day.

Advertising Drives the Wheels of Trade

Shakespeare was in error. There is much in a name. Kodak means more to the public than camera.

Kodak is a trade name owned by one concern. Advertising made this name so valuable that the right to use it could not be bought for several fortunes.

The local merchant who advertises daily is making his name a valuable asset. Brown, Jones or Smith, whatever it may be, comes in time to stand for the best in food or clothes, as the owner sells.

To your honesty of purpose, The Constitution adds its prestige gained through 45 years' square dealing with its readers.

It's a prestige you can get in few papers in this section.

"MOVIE" MACHINE TO REVIEW S. S. THRONG

Films Will Be Taken From a Moving Auto, Showing Schools in the Race for Supremacy.

When 5,000 people of the First Christian and the Second Baptist sunday schools journey in one body to the Auditorium-Armory next Sunday morning they will pass in review before the machines of the moving picture men.

At a conference held yesterday between the Sunday school heads and J. M. Marentette, representing the Consolidated Film company, it was arranged that the schools would first pass for the "movie" cameras in front of the state capitol, where they had previously planned to gather to have a large landscape photo taken to include the entire throng and the capitol also. This photo will still be taken, but the "movies" will be taken at the same time.

Then the moving picture machine will be placed in an automobile and carried across the Washington street viaduct ahead of the crowd, and it will be driven slowly back over the viaduct, making a film of the procession as it comes through town.

Old folks, young and gay, and tots will all be in that gathering, when the two schools that have been working against each other in a contest join forces for a big demonstration of fellowship. The "movie" men will use every opportunity to catch bits of human nature with their cameras, making many photos, especially of the children.

The Atlanta first-run of the pictures has already been secured by the Savoy, and after that they will be carried, in the form of "animated weeklies," all over the world.

GRAND WARDEN SLOAN GIVES FINE ADDRESS ON ODD FELLOWSHIP

Savannah, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—As the guest of honor of the ninety-fourth anniversary celebration by the Savannah Odd Fellows, Grand Warden of Georgia W. B. Sloan, of Cedartown, was entertained in great style today.

At a largely attended meeting tonight Mr. Sloan spoke interestingly on Odd Fellowship in Georgia. He touched on the need of an Odd Fellows' home in this state. He said the growth of the order has been remarkable, and he expressed the belief that in the neighborhood of 2,000 Odd Fellows will attend the state convention in Savannah later in the month. He said Odd Fellowship in the state is enjoying the most pronounced period of prosperity in his memory, and he has been a member of the order for fifteen years.

Grand Warden Sloan was introduced by William G. Sutlive. The visitors held the interest of his audience throughout his address, and he was enthusiastically applauded. There was a musical program, and the evening was as most enjoyable one. During the day Mr. Sloan was taken for a ride around the automobile course, and was given a luncheon at Thunderbolt.

Georgia to Debate.

Athens, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Georgia will have a double-header in debate on Saturday evening, when trams from the Red and Black face the Washington and Lee team and the Tulane bunch in two forensic contests, which form two-fifths of a pentagonal intercollegiate event which has become an annual feature in Athens the Georgians will have the affirmative with Washington and Lee, the question being "Resolved, That labor unions are inimical to the industrial interests of the country." Messrs. Ira Funkenstein, of Athens, and H. L. Rodgers, of Reidsville, will defend the honors for Georgia here.

Odd Fellows at Cairo.

Cairo, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—The second division, Odd Fellows, held their semi-annual meeting with the Cairo lodge, No. 340, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The occasion proved to be one of great success. The delegation was large and all went away declaring that Cairo's hospitality was unsurpassed.

TWO ATHENS BANKERS TO BE TRIED JUNE 23

Athens, Ga., May 1.—(Special.)—Back just where they were before they went to trial in December, the Athens Trust and Banking company's officers, J. W. Griffin, president, and R. H. McCrary, cashier, went this morning when a new solicitor general, John B. Gamble, called for the cases to be sounded today. Effort was made to have the trials set for the October term and admit the defendants to bail, but Mr. Gamble strenuously objected and called for an immediate trial, June 23 was agreed upon finally. In the meantime the judge instructed the sheriff to arrange the bonding of the prisoners, who have been in jail here since December 1, first awaiting trial and then the decision of the court of appeals.

McCrary will not be able to make bond. He has been three times allowed to make bond and as many times have his bondsmen surrendered him. The statute allows only two bonds made. Griffin will be allowed his freedom by the sheriff tonight if he makes good bond in large amount in four cases.

MAYOR VETOES SHIFT IN NEAR BEER ZONE

Says Council Is Fighting One Saloon in Attempting to Eliminate Them.

The resolution seeking to eliminate the area on Madison avenue from Hunter to Mitchell from the beer zone, has been vetoed by Mayor Woodward. The resolution was fought before the police committee and council since the question originated.

Mayor Woodward in his message to council characterizes the resolution as a piece of useless legislation. He says the fight is over a single saloon, and if council does not want beer sold in the block it can, by the same vote by which the resolution was adopted, refuse to grant a license. Mayor Woodward further says:

"It appears that it is hard for your honorable body to arrive at a definite conclusion as to what it really desires in that locality. Up to last December that block had been in the whiskey, and then in the beer limits for several years. At that time it was decided to cut it out, and it so remained out until the first Monday in April, when it was again reinstated as a part of the beer limits. At your last meeting on the third Monday in April, this ordinance was passed again reversing your action. Aside from the foregoing history of this matter, it appears to me that that block, on account of its close proximity to the Terminal Station and the benefits to the traveling public, is a very fitting locality for a beer saloon. If it is not so thought by your general council, then your honorable body can refuse to grant licenses, and the object of this ordinance is accomplished."

GOVERNMENT EXPERTS TO BE CHOSEN BY TESTS

Secretary Jennings, of the civil service commission for the fifth district, will hold an examination May 21-22 to secure an assistant engineer in forest products for assignment to service at Madison, Wis., or elsewhere, service of that character may be required. At the same time the secretary will hold an examination to secure a structural steel draftsman. From the contestants in this examination Secretary Jennings will recommend the two highest applicants graded for places in the bureau of yards and docks, navy department at Washington. The pay ranges from $4.72 to $5.52 a day while at work.

On May 21, Secretary Jennings will hold an examination to secure a mineral examiner with $7.00 a day as pay for assignment to the field division of the general land office.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON MORE ACTIVE; CLOSED AT ADVANCE

At Times the Market Was Excited—Closed 15 to 24 Points Higher.

New York, May 1.—The cotton market was more active today and at times showed considerable excitement, with the close steady and from 15 to 24 points net higher.

The opening was firm at an advance of 10 to 19 points, in response to higher Liverpool cables, private reports indicating that the increase in acreage this spring would be less than 4 per cent and rumors that there was a big short interest in July contracts, which would be without much protection in the way of local supplies or stocks after proposed shipments to Liverpool. There was heavy realizing by recent buyers around the initial figures, while the market also met considerable selling from southern and local bearish sources and prices eased off several points from the best during the early trading. Business became less active on the setback, however, and after a comparatively quiet middle session the market developed renewed strength on a more active demand from old crop shorts with both May and July contracts reaching the highest level of the day and about 24 to 25 points above the closing figures of last night in the late trading.

Owing, probably to continued favorable weather in the south, new crop positions did not fluctuate below the old crop advance but the general market closed within 2 or 3 points of the best.

Private cables attributed the advance abroad to active covering of shorts. There was no change in the character of European political advices.

The weather bulletin forecasts for increasing cloudy weather, with showers in west Texas, followed by low temperatures, may have inspired some of the buying, but the influence was most generally attributed to apprehension that the market had become oversold and fear of a squeeze in old crop contracts.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands 11.95; do. gulf 12.20; sales, 88,700.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, May 1.—The price of cotton regained rather violently today from the recent decline, the active months at times showing an almost 20 dollar a bale over yesterday's close. An oversold and sold out condition of the market, bad weather and manipulation from the bull side caused the upturn, shorts were heavy buyers all day and only a few of the most fearful got the best of them from them, although the stronger element on the bear side was influenced to cover on profits, rather than to buy spots.

On the opening, the tone was steady and prices were 11 to 17 points up. Liverpool stood at a sensational rise for that market and without the spirit of price necessary in a bull market, that shorts were covering on reports of cold weather in Texas. The afternoon session showed a little fresh short selling as bears pointed out that Texas was enjoying seasonable weather for first time in several days, and the bureau report showing an increase in acreage of 3.7 per cent also helped to bear the market. Prices were put down to within 6 to 8 points of yesterday's close.

Later, buying increased and in the afternoon the market had a strong undertone, standing at the highest 15 to 20 points over yesterday's final figures.

The close was steady at a net rise of 11 to 18 points. Some of the buying in the afternoon was based on the chance that the cold wave now in the southwest would work down into the cotton region.

Dry Goods.

New York, May 1.—Cotton goods markets are quiet, without any special movement in domestic or foreign goods and with prices firm at a lower price level. Jobbers are doing a fair business on wash fabrics. The carpet auction was characterized by a maintenance of the activity, and relatively high prices of the first two days.

WHEAT WEAKENED ON REPORTS FROM MILLS

Market Closed at About Lowest of the Day—Corn Also Declined.

Chicago, May 1.—Reports that several large flour mills were soon to close, because of poor trade, weakened wheat today. Closing prices were 1-8 to 3-4 cent lower. Corn had a net decline of 1-8 to 1-4@3-8; oats finished unchanged to 1-8 @ 1-4 off, but provisions made a net upturn of 7½ to 15 cents.

Advices that the closing down of several big northwestern flour mills was impending, was coupled with more favorable news from the European political situation. A prompt weakening of wheat values took place, and the market closed near the low point of the day. Lower cables, based on favorable European crop news, formed an additional bearish factor, as did the reiteration of enthusiastic crop reports from the winter wheat field. A little upturn, after a week opening, occurred on account of the fact that 1,895,000 bushels of wheat delivered on May contracts had mainly gone into strong hands. The swell there was considerable profit taking, and a downward trend was already in evidence when the milling situation aggravated bearish conditions. Primary receipts of wheat today were 555,000 bushels; last year 464,000. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equalled 145,000 bushels.

Poor demand for American corn at Liverpool helped weaken this market. There were fitful rallies on buying reports, but the general tone was heavy. Oats, after a firm start, weakened with other grains.

Small hog receipts and a consequent upturn in provisions at the yards helped provisions. Improved cash trade also aided values.

DEPARTMENT STORE CLOSED BY A STRIKE

Over 2,500 Stove Workers Out at Buffalo—Business Is Greatly Curtailed.

Buffalo, N. Y. May 1.—The strike of the Department Store Employees' association, called today for higher wages, shorter working hours, resulted in the closing of one large department store and the heavy curtailment of business in practically all retail mercantile houses. The strikers claimed that over 2,500 men, women, boys and girls were out. There were no serious disorders.

Eleven department stores in the Retail Merchants' association announced today hereafter their stores would be closed Saturday nights. This is one of the demands of the strikers.

The demand is for a minimum wage of $8 for women clerks and $15 for men clerks, with a minimum for boys of $8 and for drivers and chauffeurs of $18 per week. The employees also demand an eight-hour work day, Saturday half holiday with full pay in June, July, August and September.

Children in Labor Parade.

New York, May 1.—Labor in New York city, itself at peace in all important trades, celebrated May day with parades in which strikers from the neighboring city of Paterson, N. J., participated. From the east side and the lower east side union workers of nearly every trade joined in processions, which, after marching through many streets, ended in Madison Union square, where leaders addressed thousands of persons in several tongues. Several red flags fluttered among the many banners carried.

Children of striking operatives if the silk mills of Paterson attracted chief attention. An automobile truck contained eighty small boys and girls brought from the New York quarters by leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World. In a smaller machine were twenty-five other little ones. They were constantly cheered by the marchers and were given an ovation upon reaching Union square.

After the parade the children were distributed among New York families for keeping until the strike ends.

One of the parades today was of several thousand children of schools in the foreign quarters of this city. "No more work in fire traps" and "When we grow up we will join our parents in the fight for liberty" were two banner letterings that typified the spirit of this procession.

Riot at Burlington.

Burlington, N. J., May 1.—Rioting occurred at the East Burlington iron mills today when 150 American workmen, under police guard, forced their way past a crowd of striking foreigners who tried to prevent them from entering the works.

The strikers had placed women, some of them with babies in their arms, in the front rank to intercept the workmen. While some of the women tried to drag their husbands out of the melee, others jeered and in some instances struck at officers who were compelled to use their clubs.

A general strike of employes at the Thomas Devlin Iron Manufacturing plant was declared today, when the company refused a demand for a 12½ per cent increase in wages.

THE SUCCESSFUL MAN OR WOMAN

—is one that uses every legitimate means at his command to further his own interests. And nothing is too small, or seems too small to be pressed into service.

He keeps opportunities to sate time in the classified pages of his daily paper—in employment of men, disposal of furniture, purchase of this and that.

He realizes that the quickest way to make his wants known to thousands is through these classified columns, which form a common meeting ground for those who read the paper.

He appreciates that at the cost of a few cents he is put in contact with this vast army of people among whom will surely be someone, or maybe many, who has what he needs or needs what he has.

And, if he lives in Atlanta, or its vicinity, he uses The Constitution, because it reaches the people in the morning, when their mental faculties are alert after a night of rest.

If You Can't Bring or Send Your Want Ad, Phone Main 5000, or Atlanta 109.

SCHOOL GIRLS RULE ATLANTA FOR A DAY

Seniors of G. N. and I., on Annual Visit, Get a Rousing Welcome at Tech.

Gathering like so many of his children around Prof. Joseph T. Derry, the girls of the senior class of the Georgia Normal and Industrial Institute, of Milledgeville, sang for him yesterday his "Georgia School Song," recently published in the Constitution.

It was an interesting incident and it deeply touched the heart of the author, and civil war veteran who has done so much himself for Georgia and her young students.

The seniors of the normal school, who arrived in Atlanta in a body Thursday morning, went direct to the state capitol, and while here they sought out Professor Derry in his office in the agricultural department and sang for him his own song.

After leaving the capitol, they went to the Auditorium, where the Georgia Educational association was in session. The association suspended business for a few minutes in order to give them a cordial welcome.

In the afternoon, attired in cap and gown, they stormed the precincts of Georgia Tech, where they were given a rousing welcome by the college boys. Several hours were spent on the Tech campus.

At night Atlanta was owned by the college girls. Theaters, restaurants, and the streets were filled with them. Everywhere one looked the cap and gown was in evidence.

President and Mrs. M. M. Parks, together with several members of the faculty, are in charge of the party. The faculty members are: Mrs. S. P. Campbell, Miss Lora B. Able, Miss Orie Whitaker, Miss Hoyle Skinner, Miss Mabel Evans, Miss Edna Loyd Murphy, Miss Lella R. G. Burfitt, and L. S. Fowler.

Two typical Georgia belles are the class officers, Miss Miriam Kirkland, of Nicholls, Ga., being president, and Miss Opie Overton, of Union Point, secretary.

After spending the morning in shopping and more sightseeing, the party will leave by special train for Milledgeville.

WITH THE THEATERS

"Butterfly on the Wheel."
(At the Atlanta.)

Tonight Miss Billy Long and the members of her fine company will return to Atlanta and present "A Butterfly on the Wheel" again at the Atlanta. The play will be given Saturday at a 25-cent matinee and again Saturday night. It has won much applause and a big advance sale for the three remaining performances indicate a large crowd will see each. Seats are now on sale for next week, when "The Girl from Yonder" will be given by the company. This is a pleasing comedy and Miss Long is expected to score the biggest hit of the engagement in it, as she first appeared in a boy's costume. The company has hit its stride now and fine performances are given each night.

"Billy, the Kid."
(At the Lyric.)

The popularity of melodrama is being demonstrated this week at the Lyric, where "Billy, the Kid" is drawing splendid audiences. For thrills and melodramatic situations, this attraction holds the record and there is never a minute from curtain to curtain when the audience is not on the qui vive awaiting the stirring incidents in the play. The three remaining performances will doubtless draw good audiences to the Lyric. The announcement is made that this attraction will close the regular theatrical season and that a stock company will probably be organized to furnish entertainment to patrons of the Lyric during the summer months.

WIELDING A CUDGEL, WILSON TOURS JERSEY

the president in his speech at Newark, "to think that I was to come to this great county of Essex that wants to govern itself, but does not. I have come therefore to speak not to you, but for you. I have exercised a great self-denial about New Jersey. My great temptation in choosing a summer home was to pitch my tents where I used to.

Against "Certain Gentlemen."

"But there is going to be a contest for governor in New Jersey next summer and I did not want anybody to think I wanted to boss the job. I have no candidate for governor, but I am opposed to whomever is desired by certain gentlemen. I don't want to see any governor privately owned. I'm going to New Hampshire next summer, but New Hampshire is in telegraphic communication with New Jersey. Any one who wants to know what I think can learn by asking.

"But I want to say a few words about the democratic party. I want everybody to realize that I have not been taken in by the results of the last national election. The country did not go democratic in November. It was impossible for it to go republican because it could not tell which kind of republican to go. The only hopeful and united instrument through which it could accomplish its purpose was the democratic party. There were certain things which we want done, the country said, not certain persons elevated. There were certain things we want demonstrated, such as that the government of the United States can not be controlled by private interests. Now the democratic party is going to have a try at making these things successful and if not we're not going to have another try."

The president applied his reference to the national election to the state situation inducting that if the democratic party in the state did not redeem its pledges, including jury reform, the people might try another political party in the next election.

He Attacks the "Old Gang."

Mr. Wilson declared that when the democratic party in New Jersey three years ago had come into power, everybody wondered "if the old gang would run it, but it did not."

The speaker said that when he was preparing to go to Washington from the governorship, he was told that "the old gang would come back."

"I did not believe it," he continued, "until I saw it once more that bulky form of the gentleman who used to personally lead the New Jersey legislature into disgrace, reappeared on the very floor of the legislature that great system with a big snake-like 'S' that great sneaking, whispering system had established itself in Trenton."

The president used a quantity of adjectives to describe the "gang" and charged that the system had been so corrupt as to permit grand juries to indict at strategetic moments and "they can withhold grand juries from indicting when all is quiet, and you know that the mastery of certain gentlemen in this state could be impossible if the things they did were subject to the dispassionate judgment of grand juries."

The president was unsparing in his attack on the eleven assemblymen from Essex county who were opposing jury reform.

"It is a disgrace," said, amid applause, "to the judicial system of the state and the union, and I come here to protest as a representative American citizen that these things should be allowed to exist."

Wilson Is Guarded.

President Wilson left to spend the night in New York, after his two speeches in New Jersey. Extraordinary arrangements were made to give him protection while campaigning. William Flynn, chief of the United States secret service operatives who were distributed in the crowds everywhere. The president will meet the members of the legislature at Jersey City tomorrow and make a final speech there tomorrow night.
